Marvel Freed Of Charges of Molesting Girl

Grand Jury However Returns True Bill on Another Complaint

CALHOUN, Ga., Aug. 27—A Gordon county superior court grand jury Monday returned a "no bill" freeing the Rev. Raymond Marvel on the charge of molesting a minor child, according to Ronald Chance, solicitor of the Cherokee circuit.

The jury, however, returned a true bill on the pastor charging him with public drunkenness. The solicitor stated the trial on the drunkenness charge is expected to be on the court calendar Thursday or Friday.

Marvel was bound over to Gordon Superior Court early in July and placed under a $2,000 bond by Judge Harry Lawrence of Juvenile court during a special session of the court after hearing a story of a vacation trip made from Illinois to Florida involving the 32-year-old preacher, his wife and a 16-year-old girl.

Testimony at the preliminary hearing indicated an involved situation growing out of a trip to Florida by the Marvels, their baby son and the young girl.

It was indicated a rift developed between the married couple, that Mrs. Marvel returned from Tallahassee to Illinois, took Marvel's brother with her back to Georgia where Marvel and the young girl had hitch-hiked, that all went back to Florida and were en route to Illinois again, stopping at Calhoun.

Mrs. Marvel is said to have left the group again there and to have notified the girl's father, who called Calhoun police to make the arrests.

Gardner Points Out Changes in School Law Regarding Transportation of Pupils

Important changes in the Illinois state law regarding transportation of pupils to school, effective with the 1957-58 school term, have been pointed out by C. Raymond Gardner, Saline County Superintendent of Schools.

The changes: 1. Provides for a tax rate for transportation; 2. Provides for transporting pupils living less than 1 1/2 miles from school; 3. Provides new formula for reimbursement by state to local districts.

1. In past years local funds for transportation for pupils came from educational funds. House Bill 345 provides for a new tax for transportation of pupils at a rate not to exceed .02 per cent without referendum; may be increased up to .10 per cent by referendum. Tax anticipation warrants may be issued against the transportation tax levied;

2. School boards may provide transportation for pupils living less than 1 1/2 miles from school attended (formerly school transportation could be used only by pupils living 1 1/2 miles or more distant from school) and may make a charge for such transportation in an amount not to exceed the cost thereof, including a reasonable allowance for depletion;

3. In the past the state reimbursed school districts on a flat basis of $20 per pupil. The new law considers the sparsity problem and provides for payment based on miles travelled per pupil.

Efforts to Rehabilitate Egypt Told

The many attempts to rehabilitate southern Illinois was discussed at the Monday session of the Harrisburg Rotary club by Robert E. Knittel, assistant director of community development at Southern Illinois University. He was introduced by Dr. E. E. Montgomery, program chairman.

Mr. Knittel stated that previous attempts in the early 1900's and the 1930's met with only limited success, as a few factories located here but stayed only a few years. He said that current attempts at rehabilitation probably would be more successful, as more people from different walks of life and more organizations are interested.

According to Mr. Knittel, much can be done by the communities to make them more attractive to industry, such as better roads, schools, parks and housing facilities.

In closing, Mr. Knittel named the three main obstacles to the locating of industry in the Harrisburg area—lack of water, labor relations and electrical power. He expressed the opinion that lack of water was the most serious, as the others could be more easily overcome.

Guests of the club were Don Rice of Belleville and Dr. Delbert Trotter Jr. of Harrisburg.

It was voted to accept the challenge of the Kiwanis club to a softball game. The time and place will be set within the near future.

Russ Say Have Top Missile; See Propaganda

Claim Can Direct Rockets to Any Part of World

By DOUG ANDERSON

United Press Staff Correspondent

Russia said today it has beaten the world to the "absolute weapon"—the intercontinental ballistic missile. U. S. sources were inclined to regard the Soviet claim as a bid for "victory through hot air power."

The official Soviet agency Tass said in Moscow that a "super long distance intercontinental multi-stage ballistic rocket" launched somewhere in Russia recently reached an "unprecedented altitude," covered a "huge distance in a brief time" and "landed in the target area."

"The results obtained show that it is possible to direct rockets into any part of the world," Tass said. U. S. government experts said the United States came to this conclusion some time ago. The question is whether the Russians really have a weapon ready for production than can convert the possibility into reality.

Western observers at the current arms talks in London regarded the Russian claim as an attempt to high-pressure other nations of the atomic "Big Five" into accepting Soviet proposals for disarmament.

U. S. senators shared the view that the Russian claim was intended primarily for propaganda purposes.

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today that Russia's claim to have developed intercontinental ballistic missiles will not affect the East-West balance of military power now.

Dulles voiced doubt that the Russians accomplished any sudden breakthrough in the long range missile field. He noted that the Soviet announcement was not precise.

Worm That Crawled Into Li'l Abner Combatted by Fat-Headed Egomaniac

NEW YORK (U.P.)—A running feud was in full swing today between two of the nation's top comic strips.

"Li'l Abner" depicts a "black-hearted old noney body" named "Mary Worm" and the comic strip, "Mary Worth" includes a "fat-headed egomaniac" called "Hal Rapp."

So far, "Li'l Abner" has shown the "real life" Mary Worm as a noisy, milk-coated old battle-axe who is the mother-in-law of her creator, "Allen Flounder." As pictured by Al Capp, in the United Features comic strip, Flounder wants to get rid of her because she talks too much.

The creators of Mary Worth, Allen Saunders and Ken Ernst, have answered "Li'l Abner" in their own Publishers Syndicate comic strip.

Under guidance of the Saunders-Ernst team Mary Worth has thought "shades of bluebeard," as Hal Rapp pushed around his assistant artist for interrupting him.

Rapp and Flounder, respectively, are easily-recognizable caricatures of Capp and Saunders. As the two strips pounded away at each other with unmerciful satire, fans began to wonder Monday, just how serious the feud was getting to be.

A quick check revealed "the disappointing truth." It is all because comic strip creators get along so well.

Contacted in Boston, Al Capp said the feud was actually an elaborate plot hatched by himself and Saunders last year at a comic council meeting in Washington.

"Although professionals in all other fields were at each other's throats, cartoonists got along well, showing great admiration for one another," Capp said.

Right-to-Vote Measure Passes House; to Senate

Colp Integrated School Loses Forty Pupils

Go to Classes at Carterville, Hurst, Parochial Institutions

COLP, Ill. (U.P.)—The parents of 40 children who failed to attend the first day of class in an integrated school have enrolled their children in other schools, two to six miles away.

Wade Rowatt, one of the three white members of the seven-man Colp School Board, said the parents will keep the children enrolled in other schools for the remainder of the year because "They don't feel it would be right to start the children in one school, then pull them out." Today is the second day of class.

Rowatt said the parents are not opposed to integration, but object to "overcrowded" conditions in the Colp school.

"If there was enough money to provide suitable facilities, I don't think there would be a holler in the world," he said. "Besides, there's nothing in the law to prevent us from sending our children where we want to if we're willing to pay tuition."

About two-thirds of the children are being enrolled in the nearby Carterville Grade School, the remainder about equally divided between a grade school in Hurst and St. Mary's parochial school in Hermin, he said.

Classes were conducted as usual for the 60 Negro students enrolled in the Colp school Monday. The population of Colp is 250, approximately half of them Negro.

Integration of Colp's two schools was voted last June 26 over the opposition of the three white members of the board. Both schools had been on probation for several years. The board sought to overcome inadequate facilities by lumping all funds into one institution with children of both races attending the hitherto all-Negro school.

An attempt by parents of the white children to arrange for annexation into the Carterville School District was approved July 8, but was contested in a suit filed by the Colp School Board. Final action is still hanging.

Rowatt estimated it would cost the white parents about $200 a year for each child sent to the other schools, the approximate amount of state aid which would be withheld.

The parents would continue to take their children to the out-of-town schools by forming car pools, Rowatt said.

Two West Coast Newsmen Hurt in Crash Near Du Quoin

DU QUOIN, Ill. (U.P.)—Two West Coast newsmen who were en route to cover the Hambletonian harness race at the Du Quoin State Fair were injured in a wreck Sunday only five miles from here.

State police identified the men as Ben Woolbert, 46, of the Los Angeles Examiner and Paul Lowry, 30, La Canada, Calif., publicity director for the Western Harness Assn.

The men had flown to St. Louis and rented a car there. State police said their car struck one driven by Lasley Kimmel, 17, Thompsonville, five miles south east of here on Ill. 14 and then plunged down an embankment.

Woolbert suffered a broken arm and four broken ribs. Lowry was discharged from a Du Quoin hospital Monday.

School Bonds Again Okayed

$120,000 for Site And Construction of Independence Building

Patrons of Independence Community Consolidated Grade School District 53 went to the polls Saturday and gave overwhelming approval to the proposition to purchase land and construct a new, modern building for the district.

There were 145 votes cast in favor of the propositions and only 11 voted "no," with 2 ballots spoiled.

This marked the second time the voters approved the proposal. On July 20 an election was held and carried by a vote of 192-31. However, after the July 20 election, Rose district, Pope county, was admitted to the consolidated district and attorneys advised another election in order to make the bond issue absolutely legal.

The election approved a $120,000 bond issue for the site and building.

District officials plan to begin exercising the options to purchase the land and hope to start construction within 90 days.

Hunt Clues in Torso Slaying

CHICAGO (U.P.)—A special police task force and a battery of scientists joined forces today in an intensive hunt for clues into the slaying of a 15-year-old girl whose body was dismembered and stuffed into oil drums.

About 200 policemen, armed with questionnaires, made a house-to-house search of the victim's normally peaceful West Side neighborhood. Other officers investigated a host of telephone tips.

Scientists engaged in a detailed examination of skin and internal tissues from the dismembered body of Judith Mae Andersen in an effort to pin down the exact time and cause of death.

Coroner Walter E. McCarron set an inquest for Wednesday afternoon at which time the pathologists will make their report.

A preliminary investigation indicated Judith Mae died from a bullet wound in the head. Her butchered body was found jammed in two oil drums floating in a Lake Michigan harbor.

Wisconsin Choosing McCarthy Successor

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (U.P.)—Party leaders expected a relatively heavy turnout of 800,000 Wisconsin voters today in a special election to name a successor to the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

A heavier vote probably would favor Republican nominee Walter J. Kohler in the race against Democrat William Proxmire since the state normally has more GOP voters.

Ford Shows Its New Edsel

Company Hopes to Sell 200,000 of Them in 1958

DETROIT (U.P.)—The Ford Motor Co. today officially dropped its elaborate shroud of secrecy around the Edsel, the new medium-priced car it hopes will win back for Ford the title it lost to General Motors in the 1920's—"world's biggest automaker."

The nation's second-ranking producer's completely new Edsel line will compete in the fast-growing medium price field with such makes as Buick and DeSoto and is expected to carry price tags ranging from $2,500 to $4,500.

It goes on display in dealer showrooms Sept. 4.

The Ford Co. is betting 250 million dollars in design and development costs that the public will like—and buy—the Edsel.

The new Edsels—18 models in four series—will round out Ford's line, making it competitive with other producers from the lowest to the highest priced lines. Ford hopes to sell 200,000 of the new cars in 1958.

Ford officials said the Edsel is the first new car to be introduced to the public through an entirely new dealer organization in about 30 years. A number of the Edsel dealers gave up General Motors, Chrysler, Studebaker, Packard and American Motors dealerships to handle the new Ford car.

Jacob Henry Smith Of Carrier Mills Dies

Jacob Henry Smith, 91, a resident of Carrier Mills for most of his life, died at 7 a. m. today in the Eldorado nursing home. Mr. Smith was born in Union county, Ky., and is survived by his son Carl Smith of Carrier Mills and his daughter, Miss Elva Smith of Chicago. There are four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren surviving. His wife, Belle, preceded him in death in 1919.

The body is in the care of the Miller funeral home in Carrier Mills and funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Vote 278-97 On Compromise; Was Expected

Eisenhower Will Sign Bill If Congress Approves

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The House today approved, 278-97, a compromise right-to-vote bill that is expected to become the first civil rights law enacted by Congress since the Reconstruction Era.

The action sent the hotly fought measure back to the Senate, which also was expected to approve it before the end of this week.

Republican leaders said in advance that President Eisenhower will sign the bill into law.

The compromise bill throws new federal safeguards around minority voting rights. It also sets up a new federal civil rights commission to investigate illegal curbs on the ballot.

The measure also provides for a new assistant attorney general to head a new civil rights division in the Justice Department.

By JAMES BAAR

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Congress today threw a one-two punch at the major bills in the way of adjournment: Civil rights and foreign aid.

The House called up the new compromise civil rights bill for passage that was expected by mid-afternoon.

The Senate sought a final vote by nightfall on the battered foreign aid appropriations bill—now restored to $3,025,000,000. That was $308,750,000 less than the amount called for by President Eisenhower.

Status of Other Bills
At the same time, this was the status of other major bills with a chance for congressional action:

FBI Files: The House called up for debate its bill aimed at protecting the sanctity of the FBI files in criminal trials. The Senate Monday night passed another FBI bill despite the FBI claim that the Senate bill doesn't go far enough.

Pay Raises: The Senate may act before the end of the week on two House-passed bills that would grant pay raises to 1½ million postal and other federal workers. Republicans have predicted a presidential veto on both.

Postal Rates: The Senate also possibly may act on a House-passed administration bill boosting postal rates 500 million dollars a year but chances appeared slim.

Immigration: The House was expected to act on a Senate-passed bill that would ease refugee admissions under the Walter-McCarran Immigration Act. The bill does not effect the status of 28,000 Hungarian refugees admitted to the United States as parolees during the Hungarian revolt last fall.

Possible Delaying Tactics
Southerners thought they still might have a remaining weapon against the civil rights bill in the House—absenteeism caused by adjournment fever. It opened a possibility for delaying tactics.

But House leaders said the problem was licked. They put out a call for absentees to be present by this afternoon to speed the bill to the Senate.

The compromise bill would give the attorney general authority to use injunctions to protect voting rights. But it also would guarantee jury trials to persons charged

Thirty Thousand Cases of Asian Flu in United States, Hawaii, Doctor Declares

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—A U. S. Public Health Service spokesman said today there have been about 30,000 cases of Asian flu in the United States to date with confirmed outbreaks in 20 states and the territory of Hawaii.

He said the 30,000 figure "probably is an underestimate."

In addition, suspected outbreaks of the new type of flu, not yet confirmed by laboratory tests, have been reported in nine other states and in Alaska. Dr. C. C. Dauer, public health statistical director, said.

He gave the report at the opening session of a special conference of health officers from all states and territories. The two-day conference was called by Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney to prepare for the nationwide epidemic of Asian flu which is expected to strike this fall or winter.

Burney warned the conference that there is "always a possibility" that the new virus will become virulent and produce a severe form of the disease.

So far, it has been mild and there has been no evidence of a growing severity.

Reluctant Challengers for the Balloon Record

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Big Mystery Is Who Stopped Probe Of Teamsters And Hoffa In 1953; GOP Congressman Hoffman Complained That It Came From Very High Up.

WASHINGTON. — There would be no Hoffa headlines, no TV sets turned on to the Senate Rackets committee, no sure bet that Jimmy Hoffa will be next president of the Teamsters, if it hadn't been for a quirk of fate in Michigan four years ago.

Four years ago Hoffa was before another congressional committee. Much of the same information was being exposed about his personal loans, his race track, his police record, his deals with friends who benefited from union welfare funds, his attempts to muscle in on the juke box business, parking lots, and other enterprises far removed from the Teamsters.

Then suddenly, the hearing was called off. It was called off by very high-up Republicans, and many signs pointed to Arthur Summerfield, now postmaster general and a power in Michigan politics. He now denies this. But, in return, Hoffa supported Sen. Homer Ferguson, Republican, for re-election, later supported Mayor Albert Cobo, Republican, for governor against Democratic governor "Soapy" Williams.

The mysterious question mark is: Who worked out the deal to have Hoffa? Who called off the congressional dogs? If that probe had proceeded, Hoffa might not be the power he is today.

The question has met with denials all over the place. But here is what Republican congressmen said at the time they were stopped dead in their tracks from investigating Hoffa:

WHO KILLED THE PROBE? Rep. Clare Hoffman of Michigan made a dozen speeches pointing the finger at unnamed high-up Republicans.

On Jan. 19, 1953 he said: "It takes courage sometimes to try to probe the racketeers in your own home city... Mr. Hoffa testified under oath that his local had a million dollars in the treasury and that they had given him—Hoffa—authority to spend such part of that million in elections as he desires.

"In my own committee I was stripped of any authority to continue these investigations, except for a period of 60 days in two localities. Why?"

On Jan. 21, 1954 Hoffman continued: "I have been warned that retaliatory action would be taken if I investigated Teamster racketeers."

On Feb. 3, Hoffman again complained that his committee had been "liquidated." "They gave me no reason for such action."

On Feb. 23, Hoffman protested: "The fact of the matter is they tried to cut my throat... We were getting along all right exposing the racketeers and the extortionists, but we got too close to some politically high influential gentlemen. We were stepping on their toes. They said, 'Cut that old man off.'"

On March 24, Hoffman, still anxious to investigate Hoffa, charged that his committee had been "killed" and that this had encouraged racketeering and extortion.

In Detroit, as hearings suddenly folded, Congressman Wint Smith of Kansas looked at the ceiling and said: "The pressure comes from so high that I can't even discuss it."

Said Committee Counsel William F. McKenna: "We were silenced before we could make public certain important financial legal aspects of the Teamsters' operations."

Just who did the silencing is something the McClellan committee should investigate. But it won't. Too many senators on his committee or their friends might be involved.

UGLY HIGHWAYS

Senator Chapman Revercomb of West Virginia cast the tie-breaking vote in the Senate Public Works Committee in favor of Madison Avenue's desire to clutter up the new federal highway system with billboards.

Voting with Revercomb were his fellow Republicans, Senators Martin of Pennsylvania, Kuchel of California, and Hruska of Nebraska; also Democratic Senators Kerr of Oklahoma, McNamara of Michigan, and Scott of North Carolina.

Before Revercomb cast his tie-breaking ballot, he pleaded with committee members to lay the bill on the table so he wouldn't have to vote. This made Senators Richard Neuberger (D., Ore.) and Albert Gore (D., Tenn.) furious.

"You want to have your cake and eat it, too," protested Neuberger at Revercomb. "You want to kill the anti-billboard bill, but you also want to be able to go home and tell the ladies in the garden club and the sportsmen in the outdoor club that we can revive the bill next year."

"I agree with Senator Gore that now is the time to act," insisted Neuberger. He explained that once the roads are built and the billboards are erected, it will be too late to beautify the federal highways.

Neuberger reminded his fellow senators that American school kids sing "America The Beautiful" in their classrooms.

"There's a line that goes, 'Oh, Beautiful For Spacious Skies.' It's just too bad if statesmen can't live up to what their children sing in school."

Note—The anti-billboard bill, introduced by Neuberger in the Senate, hasn't even received a hearing in the House. Perhaps this is because the chairman of the House subcommittee on roads is Rep. George Fallon (D., Md.) of Baltimore, who used to be in the business of printing signs for advertising.

Wrestling is a sport which requires great muscular strength and physical endurance. However it can be dramatized with tricks and illusions to the point that it ceases to be a sport. Strength and stamina generally prevail in an honest match, but even the powerful wrestler must be alert to the tricks of the less powerful. A small spurt of energy can throw the expert off balance and he can lose the match.

Although few people ever wrestle on the mat in the sports arena, all of us have to wrestle constantly with mental, moral and spiritual opponents. This inner wrestling is as trying as any physical competition. Temptation plays tricks which upset the balance of the soul.

As we battle within ourselves we must keep up our courage and our strength by means of constant contact with God. He alone can keep us alert and powerful.

U. S. Postage Stamp Is 110 Years Old

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The U. S. postage stamp was 110 years old on July 1.

The first stamps, a five-cent issue with a picture of Ben Franklin and a 10-cent issue with a picture of George Washington, were sold in New York City in 1847.

The Post Office Department said 24 billion postage stamps will be sold this year.

Before 1847, postmasters marked envelopes "paid" with pen and ink or an ink stamp. They also usually wrote the name of the town from which the letter was mailed and the date.

Some local postal officials of the day developed distinctive designs for their ink stamps. These were known as "postmasters' provisionals."

Miss Sidney Joan Rodd Bride of Donald Minner in Marion Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Minner

The wedding of Miss Sidney Joan Rodd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Rodd, 504 Bainbridge Road, Marion, and Donald E. Minner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan E. Minner of Harrisburg, took place Saturday afternoon, Aug. 10, at the First Methodist Church of Marion. The Rev. Clarence V. Tolley officiated at the double ring ceremony, in a setting of summer greenery.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white ballerina length bouffant gown of silk organza with tucked bodice, lace yoke and cowl neckline. Organza panels extended from the back waist line to the hemline. Her illusion veil was held in place by a crown of silk and pearls. She carried a cascade of pink roses centered with a large cabbage rose.

The bride chose as her attendants Mrs. Rolan Gorham of Kansas City, Mo., as matron of honor, and Miss Shirley Bull of Chicago as bridesmaid. Both are former college suite mates of the bride. They wore identical ballerina length bouffant gowns of pink chiffon with back floating panels extending from the shoulder line. The bodices were fully shirred in front and back. Pink picture hats completed their costumes. They carried identical bouquets of dark red roses centered with matching glamelias.

The groom chose as his attendants Edwin Towle, Carbondale, as best man and Dick Lockwood, Harrisburg, groomsmen. Guests were seated by Rodger Rodd, brother of the bride, and Bob Hays of Harrisburg. All of the men were attired in summer tuxedos.

Master Douglas Bradley, nephew of the bride, served as ring bearer and Patricia Dee Robbins, niece of the bride, served as flower girl.

Miss Betty Boatright, at the organ, played the traditional Wedding March and recessional and appropriate music selections before and during the ceremony. Mrs. Robert D. Bradley, sister of the bride, sang "O Perfect Love" before the ceremony and "The Lord Bless You and Keep You" for the benediction.

Mrs. Rodd, mother of the bride, wore a rose tiered lace sheath dress with matching satin belt, and white accessories. Mrs. Minner, mother of the groom, wore a brown transitional cotton dress complemented with gold metallic threads, and beige accessories. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the church dining room. Miss Betty Booth, Miss Jacqueline Kaeser, Mrs. Don Morgan and Miss Dianne Stanley, close friends of the bride, assisted at the serving. They were attired in white sheath dresses with pink chiffon sashes. The beautiful serving table was covered with a white cloth. The table's organza skirt was topped with taffeta, draped and caught up at intervals with large bows of white satin and lace. The bows were centered with nosegays of pink sweetheart roses and pink satin streamers bearing white wedding bells. The three tiered white wedding cake, delicately trimmed with pink rose buds and topped with miniature wedding bells, centered the table. A garland of huckleberry and pink roses surrounded the cake.

Miss Guyula June Cochenour registered the guests. Miss Boatright played piano selections during the reception.

The bride was graduated from Marion Township High School and William Woods College, Fulton, Mo. She attended Asbury College, Wilmore, Kentucky during the past year.

Mr. Minner was graduated from Harrisburg high school. He served in the army, stationed in Germany, for two years. He attended Southern Illinois University at Carbondale before entering service and is now a student there.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Minner will be at home to their friends at 706 South Marion Street, Carbondale.

Boost Worker Morale

Industry Spends Billion Yearly For Recreation Activities

NEW YORK — American industry, mindful that all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, is spending one billion dollars a year helping its workers have fun.

Picnics . . . regattas . . . hayrides . . . bowling tournaments . . . trips to Europe . . . choral group recitals . . . chess matches. These are just smatterings of off-hour company recreation activities.

Their aim—to boost worker morale, improve efficiency and reduce turnover.

David F. Chapin, president of the Industrial Recreation Directors Association of New York, told the United Press recreation programs are another "fringe benefit" companies offer to get and keep good workers in a tight labor market.

About 25,000 companies — from the tiniest Los Angeles electronics firm to international New York oil giants—have some form of industrial recreation activities, according to the National Industrial Recreation Assn.

This year they will spend one billion dollars brightening after-work hours of their employees, against 800 million dollars eight years ago, the association forecasts.

What's the company's role? Normally it's that of an interested bystander who helps defray the cost of such things as equipment and instructors, provides a meeting place and in some cases even gives time off.

The staple of industrial recreation is the picnic. It's estimated that as many as two out of three companies hold a picnic of some sort during the year.

From these activities range out along a broad spectrum. The larger the company, usually the more diversified the program.

U. S. Steel Corp. has a wide range of activities with programs organized on a local plant level. At its Gary, Ind., works, for example, there are a dozen different activities available from a choral group to bowling. "Big Steel's" attitude is to "encourage and cooperate."

Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey also offers a wide range of activities on a local level. Last Memorial Day 2,000 New York based

Grant Killer of Officer Stay of Execution

CHICAGO — A Criminal Court judge has granted a stay of execution to cop-killer Richard D. Carpenter, 27, scheduled to die in the electric chair Thursday morning.

The stay, until Sept. 19, was granted late Monday by Chief Justice Wilbert F. Crowley when an attorney for the condemned killer filed notice he planned to appeal a verdict by a Criminal Court jury that Carpenter was sane.

Prepare Pre-Schooler For Kindergarten

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. —(AP)— Planning to send your pre-schooler to kindergarten this fall? Better start preparing now, said Patricia Robinson, University of Illinois child development specialist. First thing, she said, is to make sure the youngster knows his name, address, and telephone number.

Then be sure the pupil-to-be can dress himself, and buy clothing which is easy to put on. The child should be encouraged to play with other children, and taught as much general information — such as about post offices and train stations — as possible. If there's a summer kindergarten in progress, take him for a visit, to get used to the idea, Miss Robinson suggested.

Keep Your Dislike of A Food from Child

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — (AP) — If the children don't take to certain foods, make sure your own attitude isn't involved, says Mrs. Rita McGreer, University of Illinois nursery school dietitian. A chance remark about disliking a certain food or its taste can have a lasting effect on a child, she explained. A child can sense when parents try to get him to eat foods they dislike. More often than not they just won't, she added.

with criminal contempt when judges seek to impose fines exceeding $300 or sentences of more than 45 days.

The Senate Appropriations Committee Monday restored $500,000 of the more than 800 million dollars slashed by the House from the foreign aid bill.

However, the administration's partial victory faced a possibly short life.

Seek Slash

Senate critics of the foreign aid program planned to try for at least one more slash at the bill as it moved through the Senate. And Rep. Otto E. Passman (D-La.), chairman of the House appropriations subcommittee that originally cut it, predicted the House would never go along with the half-billion increase.

Other congressional news:

TVA: Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.) forecast that Arnold R. Jones — Eisenhower's nominee as director of the Tennessee Valley Authority — had a "50-50 chance, at best" of winning Senate confirmation. Democratic opposition continued to increase.

Public Works: The President signed reluctantly the $858,094,323 public works bill. The bill carried more than 18 million dollars less than he requested. But he complained it included many unbudgeted items that would drive up the cost in future years.

Oil: The Senate anti-trust subcommittee said the President may have approved an illegal plan to restrict oil imports by voluntary agreement during the Suez Canal crisis last year. The subcommittee majority said the oil lift organized to supply Europe during the crisis should have been handled by the government — not private companies.

Dulles Says U. S. Would Consider Admitting Red Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today the United States will consider admitting a Communist Chinese reporter if one applies for a visa.

But he made clear that the United States has no intention of admitting Red Chinese newsmen to this country on a reciprocal basis in return for Communist China allowing American reporters to enter that country.

The State Department last week agreed to let 24 American newsmen go to Communist China for a limited period to cover news developments there. But the Chinese Communist People's Daily newspaper demanded that the United States grant Red Chinese reporters reciprocal rights.

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago American today became the second Chicago newspaper this week to raise its price from 5 to 7 cents. The Chicago Daily News raised its price Monday. Both papers said the increase was necessitated by soaring costs of production.

Soaked for Money

CHICAGO (AP) — A dozen school children got in the swing of things to "soak" their friends for money to contribute to a home for emotionally disturbed children. The little fund-raisers let paying customers pelt them with wet sponges as they sat on swings. The take: $31.

Proper Way to Make Iced Tea Explained

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — The University of Illinois has decided just about everyone makes iced tea the wrong way. To make clear iced tea, use 2 teaspoons of tea for each cup of water. Use lukewarm water and let the tea stand from three to six hours, says the university. Brisk, clear tea is the result — with very little tannin to make it cloudy. Pouring boiling water over tea is just asking for trouble; hotter the water the more tannin to cloud the tea.

First Mexican Natural Gas for U.S. Cities

On August 22, a group of men gathered at Reynosa, Mexico, just across the Rio Grande from McAllen, Texas. A brief ceremony was held, and a valve was opened, starting the first major importation of natural gas from Mexico.

Soon, this gas will be heating homes and serving industry in a dozen or more Midwestern, Appalachian and Eastern Seaboard states. The gas will come from large fields in Northern Mexico tapped by Petroleos Mexicanos (Pemex).

Daily, some 115 million cubic feet of Mexican gas will move north through Texas Eastern's 5900-mile pipeline system... and (via facilities of the company's local client firms) into homes and plants as far north as New England.

By joining in utilizing this great natural resource, Texas Eastern and Pemex are making a signal contribution to the economies of both Mexico and the United States.

Through the sale of this gas, Pemex will receive an annual revenue of almost $6,000,000 — initially. As the volume of deliveries goes up, so will the revenues.

Texas Eastern, through its 20-year Pemex contract, can assure its customers continuing and increasing supplies of natural gas. This in turn means that greater quantities of this clean, dependable and economical fuel can be made available to homes and industries in Midwestern, Appalachian and Eastern Seaboard States.

Expect 50,000 to See Du Quoin Hambletonian

No Betting for First Time Since 1939

Possibility of Thundershowers Is Predicted

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—A record crowd of 50,000 was expected today at the first Midwestern running of trotting's richest race, the Hambletonian, a feature of the Du Quoin State Fair.

The race will be historic in several aspects. There will be no betting, for the first time since 1939. It will run in two divisions for the first time, and also for the first time, it will require five heats to find a winner.

Cooler temperatures with partly cloudy skies and a chance of thundershowers was predicted.

Meanwhile, a replacement for Wayne (Curley) Smart, 52, Delaware, Ohio, driver of Phillip Frost, was to be announced shortly before race time.

Smart dislocated his knee, strained ligaments and tendons of a leg, which was placed in a cast, and was unable to drive.

Three horses were rated the major challengers, the filly, Hoot Song, in the second division, and two colts, Hickory Smoke and Buckeye Demon, challenging each other in the first divisions.

Hoot Song has the top time of the year of any horse in the field for the mile distance of the race, 2:01 3-5, while Buckeye Demon, son of the 1948 Hambletonian winner, Demon Hanover, has the next best clocking, 2:01 4-5.

The race will gross $111,126, second highest in history, surpassed only by the $117,117.98 paid in 1953, but because five heats will be run, the highest possible purse to the winner will be only $47,917.62, a total already bettered in five previous races.

Each division, with 11 horses in the first and 10 in the second, will run two heats with the winners advancing to the fifth heat from which the champion will come. Each heat will carry $21,780.74 with $13,068 to the winner, except the last heat will be winner take all.

Five drivers in the field have won the Hambletonian previously. Harrison Hoyt, piloting Buckeye Demon, rode to victory behind Demon Hanover in 1948, Del Cameron, driving Major Newport, was the winner in 1954 behind Newport Dream, Joe O'Brien, driving Bond Hanover, directed Scott Frost to victory in 1955, and Ned Bower, who won last year behind The Intruder, will pilot Storm Cloud. The fifth previous winner was 77-year-old Fred Egan, who won in 1940 behind Spencer Scott and in 1949 behind Miss Tilly.

Even though the track is rated faster than Good Time Park, Goshen, N. Y., site of the race since 1930, trackmen thought the chance was no better than even that a new record would be set. The best mark ever set in the event was 2:00 by Hoot Mon in 1947.

Hope Robinson Title Bout to Be Settled Today

NEW YORK (AP)—The corned beef sandwiches that felled promoter Jim Norris may cause a quick announcement that the million-dollar Ray Robinson-Carmen Basilio fight is on again.

"Let's do it for Jim!" was the melodramatic slogan of both sides in the dispute today as settlement negotiations were resumed, while multi-millionaire Norris lay in St. Clare's Hospital recovering from an acute attack of food poisoning.

Middleweight champion Robinson, who was warned by the N. Y. State Athletic Commission to go through with the fight or risk having his title vacated, said, "I'm hopeful we can settle things today and cheer up Jim; nothing's so important right now as his welfare."

Norris, 50, suffered a heart attack seven years ago; and there is an old lesion scar on one of the arteries although electrocardiograms disclosed no new heart damage.

He was stricken by the "acute enteritis" Monday night at the very hour he had been scheduled to preside over a surprise conference at his office in Madison Square Garden.

Big Ted Says Pills Keep Him Going, Won't Quit Baseball

NEW YORK (AP)—Pain-wracked Ted Kluszewski insisted today he's "not quitting."

The big Cincinnati first baseman is only a part-time performer now because of a slipped disc in his spine but he says he isn't ready to hang up his mitt yet.

"Maybe I'll undergo an operation this winter," he said. "I haven't really decided what I'll do about the back. But I'm not going to quit baseball. My back still bothers me although it isn't nearly as bad as it was during the spring."

Kluszewski, who will be 33 next month, takes numerous pills every day to keep the pain in his back from becoming unbearable.

"Those pills are the things that keep me going," said the muscular Redleg veteran, who was once among the most feared sluggers in the National League.

So far this season, big Klu has been in only 58 games for Cincinnati and in many of them he appeared solely as a pinch hitter.

Bowling Star to Stage Exhibition in Harrisburg

Dick Webber, member of the world champion Budweiser bowling team of St. Louis, will stage an exhibition at the Harrisburg Bowl Friday evening.

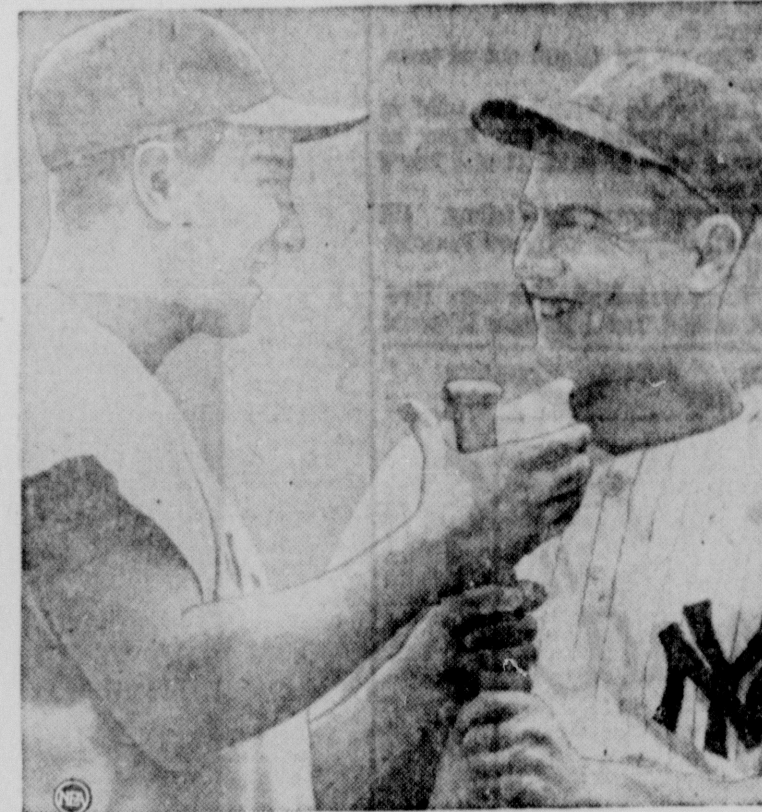

Everyone is invited to see the exhibition by Webber, starting at 7:30 p. m.

Admission is free and as a door prize a bowling ball will be awarded, with anyone eligible to register during the day Friday.

Fight Results

NEW YORK — Gene Armstrong, 151, Elizabeth, N. J., defeated Rudy Sawyer, 148, New York (10).

WINNER TAKES ALL—Roy Sievers, left, of the Washington Senators and the New York Yankees' Mickey Mantle know which side they are on in race for the American League home run and runs-batted-in championships and more money.

CROSSING HIS BRIDGES

Brethrens Take 1st Playoff Till

Social Brethren pounded First Baptist 18-5, to win the first "I" league playoff game Monday. The second game will be at 5:30 a. m. today and the third, if necessary, Wednesday at the same time.

Social Brethren had only six hits, but they capitalized on eight walks and six errors to run up the high score. Bill McKeever was the big gun at the plate with a home run and double.

Donnie Hutchison doubled and Ronnie Hutchison, Gary Hutchison and Roy Simpson each singled. Albert Beal was the winning pitcher, giving up seven hits, walking four and striking out two. For First Baptist, Nicky Hicks tripled, Bobby Karnes doubled and Johnny Gee, Don Griffith, Billy Abney, Sam Potter and Stephen Maszaros singled. Maszaros was the losing pitcher.

Bell Breaks Ankle, Call Up Thurman

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Bob Thurman will report to the Cincinnati Reds here tonight as a replacement for outfielder Gus Bell, out for the rest of the season with a broken ankle.

Thurman, who shined as a pinch-hitter for the Redlegs earlier this season, was recalled from Seattle Monday after X-rays revealed a small bone fracture in Bell's right ankle.

The slugging center-fielder suffered the injury while attempting to stretch a double into a triple in the eighth inning of Saturday's 4-1 loss to the Pirates.

The Redlegs asked waivers on pitcher Vincente Amor to make room for Thurman.

There will be a special meeting at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Harrisburg Bowl to organize eight teams for the 8:30 p. m. Wednesday Mixed League. All those intending to bowl and others interested are urged to be present.

Baltimore at Cleveland (night). Boston at Detroit.

Yanks Invade Home of Hot Chi-Sox, Who Have Great Opportunity to Cut Lead

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees, badly mauled by that vicious Detroit Tiger, came stumbling into Chicago tonight to give the White Sox their golden opportunity of 1957.

If the Yankees ever were ready to be "taken," they are now.

Their 5-2 drubbing by the Tigers Monday, thanks to Al Kaline's three-run homer, was their fifth loss in the last seven games; their league lead over the Sox now is down to 3 1-2 games—lowest point since Aug. 1; and their pitching isn't ready for the big three-game series opening under the Chicago arcs tonight.

Instead of having an Allie Reynolds ready to hurl, manager Casey Stengel is calling Art Ditmar, last year the losingest pitcher in the league, out of the bullpen to face either Jim Wilson or Gerry Staley. Out of action are ace lefties Whitey Ford and Bobby Shantz and the rest of the Yank mound corps is wobbling.

Six-Game Streak

The White Sox, riding a six-game winning streak, were idle Monday while the Tigers were beating the Yankees for the second straight day. Mickey Mantle slugged his 33rd homer in the first inning with a mate aboard to put New York ahead, 2-0, but Frank Lary shut out the league leaders the rest of the way.

Kaline slammed his 17th homer of the year in the first inning with two on to put Detroit ahead to stay and give him 13 runs-batted-in during the last four games. Harvey Kuenn singled home another Tiger run in the second and Charley Maxwell's sacrifice fly delivered the final tally in the fifth.

If the White Sox can sweep all three games in the series starting tonight, they still will be a half-game behind the Yankees. But they'll be all even in the only place baseball men say is important—the lost column.

The Milwaukee Braves' headlong rush toward the National League pennant was slowed Monday night when they dropped a 4-3 decision to the Phillies, cutting their lead to seven games over idle St. Louis and Brooklyn.

Braves Rally

The Braves rallied from a 3-1 deficit to tie the score with two unearned runs in the eighth inning with the help of Chico Fernandez' error. But the Phils loaded the bases against reliever Ernie Johnson with one out in the ninth and then pinch-hitter Ron Northey singled to score Ted Kazanski with the winning run. Rookie Dick Farrell was the winner in relief.

In the only other games scheduled Monday, the New York Giants trounced the Cincinnati Redlegs, 17-3, and the Boston Red Sox crushed Kansas City, 16-0.

Home runs by Danny O'Connell and Hank Sauer led the Giants' 19-hit attack as they handed the Redlegs their 13th loss in the last 14 games.

A 10-run seventh inning featured the Red Sox' win with four homers in that big frame — by

Eldorado Merchants Defeat Herrin

A two-run rally in the seventh inning gave the Eldorado Merchants a 5-4 victory over Herrin Sunday in a game played on the Raleigh diamond.

Each team scored three times in the first and the score remained tied until the sixth when Herrin came up with a marker to go in front 4-3.

Eldorado scored the two winning tallies in the seventh. James and Pulliam walked and Thaxton singled to load the bases, then Parton singled to drive in the winning markers.

Joe Irvin pitched six innings for Eldorado, allowing six hits and 4 runs. Davis hurled the final three innings, allowing three hits and no runs.

Eldorado hitting was paced by M. Stone with 3 for 4 and Pulliam had 2 for 3.

Sunday and Monday Eldorado, Herrin, Marion and Pittsburg will participate in a tourney at Zeigler.

The four teams will meet at 12:30 Sunday and draw for first round play. Sunday's winners play Monday for the championship trophy.

Eldorado players will meet at the Raleigh diamond Friday at 5:30 p. m. for practice.

STAMPEDE AT BLUE SPRINGS

BY GENE OLSON

THE STORY: Blue Springs officials have picked a new marshal, Si Hanna, a gun fighter. Si's first act is to send word by Pike Ambrose to federal Marshal Harney Blanchard to get out of town. Harney has refused to leave till he gets back a prisoner who was kidnapped from him.

Blanchard pulled me into the dark on the porch. He looked down toward Carey's saloon. "You sure it's fight he wants?"

I nodded. I was pretty sure it wasn't just talk. I knew how long a walk it would be for Si from the saloon. Enough time for a man to think a lot. I could see where he'd enjoy going up against Blanchard in one way, Si being what he was. But it was one thing to talk fight in the saloon and it was another thing to make a play.

Blanchard sat down and tipped back his hat. He pulled out his gun and broke it and ran a finger over the cylinder. "Pike . . . you get across the street behind some cover."

"Get across the street." The words slapped me and turned me. I kicked the porch railing to show him I was mad but I didn't say any more. I went down the steps and looked toward Carey's and then walked across the street. I hunched behind a water barrel so that just my eyes and hat showed. Blanchard was a gray shape in the dark on the porch. I crouched until my knees hurt, then stood up.

Si Hanna came out of the saloon and started walking slow toward the hotel. I went down fast behind the barrel.

I looked at Blanchard. Just the gray shape over there, not moving yet. Si walked faster, a lot faster than I thought he'd come, his heels thumping loud on the planks. Fifteen feet from Blanchard, he stopped.

Two men drifted out of the saloon, walked south 20 feet on the boardwalk and then trotted across the street. Three more came out and stood close to the wall. Lights went out in two rooms on the second floor of the hotel. Then I heard Si.

"You've got to get out of town, marshal."

The words weren't too solid in Si's thin voice but you knew he meant what he said. Then I heard Blanchard.

"Don't crowd me, fellow. I'll listen. If you've got good reasons, I'll go."

There was dead quiet then. Hanna moved and I thought it would happen but it didn't. Blanchard was still in the chair. Why didn't he get out of that chair? That was no way to be when you had to go for a gun. I wanted to yell at him but I couldn't.

Hanna said, "I'll be back in 10 minutes. You be gone."

Hanna turned and started away. I thought he was backing down. By the time he'd moved three steps I knew it was wrong but before I could yell, Hanna turned and his right hand dropped. Somebody yelled, "Stop it, boys!"

It was Jordan Peterson. He was running toward the hotel. I had to admit he had guts but he was too late.

I saw Peterson running and I saw the flame of Hanna's first shot and I heard a woman scream in the hotel. A shape moved on the porch, up and up, and then left the railing in a great arching leap. Two more shots slammed loud from Hanna's gun. Blanchard hit the street and rolled once and came to his knees in a stir of gray dust. The flame and the blast of noise came again, smashing against the buildings. I knew it was Blanchard's gun. Then I could yell and I did. Real loud. The stream of noise cracked against the walls and echoes and died out on the prairie. A patch of gunsmoke drifted slow in the wind by the hotel. Another settled in the street, moving slow away from Blanchard.

Si Hanna's gun flamed again. I tore my eyes from Blanchard, kneeling in the street. Si leaned against a storefront, his gun loose in his hand, smoke curling over him. Then he folded to the boardwalk and once more his gun let go. I heard the tinkle of window glass somewhere to the back of me. Si Hanna was still. I was sure he was dead.

Blanchard rose, slow. He looked toward me. I came to me that I was standing and I wondered if I'd been standing long. I went out to Blanchard. I wasn't thinking that he might be hurt. It never seemed to me that he would be. My throat was so tight I couldn't talk. I picked up his hat and gave it to him. He dropped his gun into his holster and took the hat. He walked to Hanna. He looked at Hanna and then lifted his head to look at Jordan Peterson, who stood like a statue 30 feet away on the boardwalk.

Blanchard said, "That was mighty foolish, Mr. Peterson. You take him now. He's yours. Don't ever say I alone killed him."

We went to the depot, me and Blanchard, and we were alone there. The depot was dark and I wondered if Conliffe had gone home.

The depot door was locked. We leaned against the wall in the cool dark. Rising wind bit through my shirt and I tried to keep from shivering. Blanchard hadn't said 10 words in the last hour, since Si Hanna died.

The headlight on the train was a nearing brightness, dipping in to the prairie, then rising out.

Blanchard said, "Pike . . . I had to stand up to him."

"Sure you did, Harney."

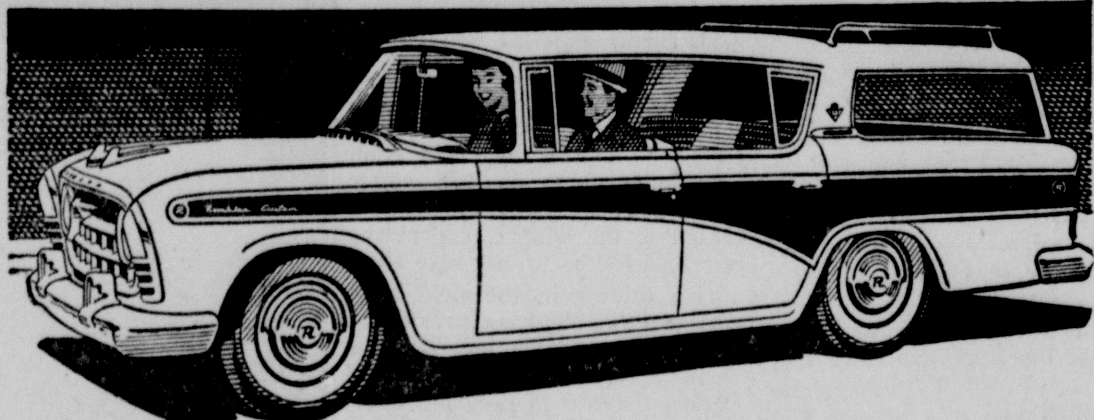

"It's hard to tell sometimes. You don't know. Maybe you do it just for pride."

Election Result
REED CITY, Mich. — (UP) — Benjamin H. Ridderman had to wait almost a month before learning that he had been re-elected to office. He was declared winner over Percy Conrad by a 165-160 margin in the unofficial returns, but the board of canvassers found an error and declared the race a tie, 160-160. They drew for the office, with Ridderman winning. Conrad then demanded a recount. Ridderman won again by a margin of 159-158.

Marvel Freed Of Charges of Molesting Girl

Grand Jury However Returns True Bill on Another Complaint

CALHOUN, Ga., Aug. 27—A Gordon county superior court grand jury Monday returned a "no bill" freeing the Rev. Raymond Marvel on the charge of molesting a minor child, according to Ronald Chance, solicitor of the Cherokee circuit.

The jury, however, returned a true bill on the pastor charging him with public drunkenness. The solicitor stated the trial on the drunkenness charge is expected to be on the court calendar Thursday or Friday.

Marvel was bound over to Gordon Superior Court early in July and placed under a $2,000 bond by Judge Harry Lawrence of Juvenile court during a special session of the court after hearing a story of a vacation trip made from Illinois to Florida involving the 32-year-old preacher, his wife and a 16-year-old girl.

Testimony at the preliminary hearing indicated an involved situation growing out of a trip to Florida by the Marvels, their baby son and the young girl.

It was indicated a rift developed between the married couple, that Mrs. Marvel returned from Tallahassee to Illinois, took Marvel's brother with her back to Georgia where Marvel and the young girl had hitch-hiked, that all went back to Florida and were en route to Illinois again, stopping at Calhoun. Mrs. Marvel is said to have left the group again there and to have notified the girl's father, who called Calhoun police to make the arrests.

Gardner Points Out Changes in School Law Regarding Transportation of Pupils

Important changes in the Illinois state law regarding transportation of pupils to school, effective with the 1957-58 school term, have been pointed out by C. Raymond Gardner, Saline County Superintendent of Schools.

The changes: 1. Provides for a tax rate for transportation; 2. Provides for transporting pupils living less than 1 1/2 miles from school; 3. Provides new formula for reimbursement by state to local districts.

1. In past years local funds for transportation for pupils came from educational funds. House Bill 345 provides for a new tax for transportation of pupils at a rate not to exceed .02 per cent without referendum; may be increased up to .10 per cent by referendum. Tax anticipation warrants may be issued against the transportation law levied;

2. School boards may provide transportation for pupils living less than 1 1/2 miles from school attended (formerly school transportation could be used only by pupils living 1 1/2 miles or more distant from school) and may make a charge for such transportation in an amount not to exceed the cost thereof, including a reasonable allowance for depletion;

3. In the past the state reimbursed school districts on a flat basis of $20 per pupil. The new law considers the sparsity problem and provides for payment based on miles travelled per pupil.

Efforts to Rehabilitate Egypt Told

The many attempts to rehabilitate southern Illinois was discussed at the Monday session of the Harrisburg Rotary club by Robert E. Knittel, assistant director of community development at Southern Illinois University. He was introduced by Dr. B. E. Montgomery, program chairman.

Mr. Knittel stated that previous attempts in the early 1900's and the 1930's met with only limited success, as a few factories located here but stayed only a few years. He said that current attempts at rehabilitation probably would be more successful, as more people from different walks of life and more organizations are interested.

According to Mr. Knittel, much can be done by the communities to makethem more attractive to industry, such as better roads, schools, parks and housing facilities.

In closing, Mr. Knittel named the three main obstacles to the locating of industry in the Harrisburg area—lack of water, labor relations and electrical power. He expressed the opinion that lack of water was the most serious, as the others could be more easily overcome.

Guests of the club were Don Rice of Belleville and Dr. Delbert Trotter Jr. of Harrisburg.

It was voted to accept the challenge of the Kiwanis club to a softball game. The time and place will be set within the near future.

Russ Say Have Top Missile; See Propaganda Claim Can Direct Rockets to Any Part of World

By DOUG ANDERSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

Russia said today it has beaten the world to the "absolute weapon"—the intercontinental ballistic missile. U. S. sources were inclined to regard the Soviet claim as a bid for "victory through hot air power."

The official Soviet agency Tass said in Moscow that a "super long distance intercontinental multi-stage ballistic rocket" launched somewhere in Russia recently reached an "unprecedented altitude," covered a "huge distance in a brief time" and "landed in the target area."

"The results obtained show that it is possible to direct rockets into any part of the world," Tass said. U. S. government experts said the United States came to this conclusion some time ago. The question is whether the Russians really have a weapon ready for production than can convert the possibility into reality.

Western observers at the current arms talks in London regarded the Russian claim as an attempt to high-pressure other nations of the atomic "Big Five" into accepting Soviet proposals for disarmament.

U. S. senators shared the view that the Russian claim was intended primarily for propaganda purposes.

Colp Integrated School Loses Forty Pupils

Go to Classes at Carverville, Hurst, Parochial Institutions

COLP, Ill. (AP)—The parents of 40 children who failed to attend the first day of class in an integrated school have enrolled their children in other schools, two to six miles away.

Wade Rowatt, one of the three white members of the seven-man Colp School Board, said the parents will keep the children enrolled in other schools for the remainder of the year because "They don't feel it would be right to start the children in one school, then pull them out." Today is the second day of class.

Rowatt said the parents are not opposed to integration, but object to "overcrowded" conditions in the Colp school.

"If there was enough money to provide suitable facilities, I don't think there would be a holler in the world," he said. "Besides, there's nothing in the law to prevent us from sending our children where we want to if we're willing to pay tuition."

About two-thirds of the children are being enrolled in the nearby Carverville Grade School, the remainder about equally divided between a grade school in Hurst and St. Mary's parochial school in Herin, he said.

Classes were conducted as usual for the 60 Negro students enrolled in the Colp school Monday. The population of Colp is 250, approximately half of them Negro.

Integration of Colp's two schools was voted last June 26 over the opposition of the three white members of the board. Both schools had been on probation for several years. The board sought to overcome inadequate facilities by lumping all funds into one institution with children of both races attending the hitherto all-Negro school.

An attempt by parents of the white children to arrange for annexation into the Carverville School District was approved July 8, but was contested in a suit filed by the Colp School Board. Final action is still hanging.

Rowatt estimated it would cost the white parents about $200 a year for each child sent to the other schools, the approximate amount of state aid which would be withheld.

The parents would continue to take their children to the out-of-town schools by forming car pools, Rowatt said.

Two West Coast Newsmen Hurt in Crash Near Du Quoin

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—Two West Coast newsmen who were en route to cover the Hambletonian harness race at the Du Quoin State Fair were injured in a wreck Sunday only five miles from here.

State police identified the men as Ben Woolbert, 46, of the Los Angeles Examiner and Paul Lowry, 30, La Canada, Calif., publicity director for the Western Harness Assn.

The men had flown to St. Louis and rented a car there. State police said their car struck one driven by Lesley Kimmel, 17, Thompsonville, five miles south of here on Ill. 14 and then plunged down an embankment.

Woolbert suffered a broken arm and four broken ribs. Lowry was discharged from a Du Quoin hospital Monday.

A preliminary investigation indicated Judith Mae died from a bullet wound in the head. Her mangled body was found jammed in to two oil drums floating in a Lake Michigan harbor.

Wisconsin Choosing McCarthy Successor

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Party leaders expected a relatively heavy turnout of 800,000 Wisconsin voters today in a special election to name a successor to the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

A heavier vote probably would favor Republican nominee Walter J. Kohler in the race against Democrat William Proxmire since the state normally has more GOP voters.

School Bonds Again Okayed

$120,000 for Site And Construction of Independence Building

Patrons of Independence Community Consolidated Grade School District 53 went to the polls Saturday and gave overwhelming approval to the proposition to purchase land and construct a new, modern building for the district.

There were 145 votes cast in favor of the propositions and only 11 voted "no," with 2 ballots spoiled.

This marked the second time the voters approved the proposal. On July 20 an election was held and carried by a vote of 192-31. However, after the July 20 election, Rose district, Pope county, was admitted to the consolidated district and attorneys advised another election in order to make the bond issue absolutely legal.

The election approved a $120,000 bond issue for the site and building.

District officials plan to begin exercising the options to purchase the land and hope to start construction within 90 days.

Hunt Clues in Torso Slaying

CHICAGO (AP)—A special police task force and a battery of scientists joined forces today in an intensive hunt for clues into the slaying of a 15-year-old girl whose body was dismembered and stuffed into oil drums.

About 200 policemen, armed with questionnaires, made a house-to-house search of the victim's normally peaceful West Side neighborhood. Other officers investigated a host of telephone tips.

Scientists engaged in a detailed examination of skin and internal tissues from the dismembered body of Judith Mae Anderson in an effort to pin down the exact time and cause of death.

Coroner Walter E. McCarron set an inquest for Wednesday afternoon at which time the pathologist will make their report.

A preliminary investigation indicated Judith Mae died from a bullet wound in the head. Her mangled body was found jammed in to two oil drums floating in a Lake Michigan harbor.

Thirly Thousand Cases of Asian Flu in United States, Hawaii, Doctor Declares

WASHINGTON (AP)—A U. S. Public Health Service spokesman said today there have been about 30,000 cases of Asian flu in the United States to date with confirmed outbreaks in 20 states and the territory of Hawaii.

He said the 30,000 figure "probably is an underestimate."

In addition, suspected outbreaks in the new type of flu, not yet confirmed by laboratory tests, have been reported in nine other states and in Alaska. Dr. C. C. Dauer, public health statistical director, said.

Vote 278-97 On Compromise; Was Expected

Eisenhower Will Sign Bill If Congress Approves

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House today approved, 278-97, a compromise right-to-vote bill that is expected to become the first civil rights law enacted by Congress since the Reconstruction Era.

The action sent the hotly fought measure back to the Senate, which also was expected to approve it before the end of this week.

Republican leaders said in advance that President Eisenhower will sign the bill into law.

The compromise bill throws new federal safeguards around minority voting rights. It also sets up a new federal civil rights commission to investigate illegal curbs on the ballot.

The measure also provides for a new assistant attorney general to head a new civil rights division in the Justice Department.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress today threw a one-two punch at the major bills in the way of adjournment: Civil rights and foreign aid.

The House called up the new compromise civil rights bill for passage that was expected by mid-afternoon.

The Senate sought a final vote by nightfall on the battered foreign aid appropriations bill—now restored to $3,025,660,000. That was $308,750,000 less than the amount called for by President Eisenhower.

Status of Other Bills

At the same time, this was the status of other major bills with a chance for congressional action:

FBI Files: The House called up for debate its bill aimed at protecting the sanctity of the FBI files in criminal trials. The Senate Monday night passed another FBI files bill despite the FBI claim that the Senate bill doesn't go far enough.

Pay Raises: The Senate may act before the end of the week on two House-passed bills that would grant pay raises to 1 1/2 million postal and other federal workers. Republicans have predicted a presidential veto on both.

Postal Rates: The Senate also possibly may act on a House-passed administration bill boosting postal rates $50 million dollars a year but chances appeared slim.

Immigration: The House was expected to act on a Senate-passed bill that would ease refugee admissions under the Walter-McCarran Immigration Act. The bill does not effect the status of 28,000 Hungarian refugees admitted to the United States as parolees during the Hungarian revolt last fall.

Possible Delaying Tactics

Southerners thought they still might have a remaining weapon against the civil rights bill in the House—absenteeism caused by adjournment fever. It opened a possibility for delaying tactics.

But House leaders said the problem was licked. They put out a call for absentees to be present by this afternoon to speed the bill to the Senate.

The compromise bill would give the attorney general authority to use injunctions to protect voting rights. But it also would guarantee jury trials to persons charged

WASHINGTON (AP)—A U. S. Public Health Service spokesman said today there have been about 30,000 cases of Asian flu in the United States to date with confirmed outbreaks in 20 states and the territory of Hawaii.

He said the 30,000 figure "probably is an underestimate."

In addition, suspected outbreaks in the new type of flu, not yet confirmed by laboratory tests, have been reported in nine other states and in Alaska. Dr. C. C. Dauer, public health statistical director, said.

THE STORY: Blue Springs officials have picked a new marshal, Si Hanna, a gun fighter. Si's first act is to send word by Pike Ambrose to federal Marshal Harney Blanchard to get out of town. Harney has refused to leave till he gets back a prisoner who was kidnapped from him.

Blanchard pulled me into the dark on the porch. He looked down toward Carey's saloon. "You sure it's fight he wants?"

I nodded. I was pretty sure it wasn't just talk. I knew how long a walk it would be for Si from the saloon. Enough time for a man to think a lot. I could see where he'd enjoy going up against Blanchard in one way, Si being what he was. But it was one thing to talk fight in the saloon and it was another thing to make a play.

Blanchard sat down and tipped back his hat. He pulled out his gun and broke it and ran a finger over the cylinder. "Pike . . . you get across the street behind some cover."

"Not!"

"Get across the street."

The words slapped me and turned me. I kicked the porch railing to show him I was mad but I didn't say any more. I went down the steps and looked toward Carey's and then walked across the street. I hunched behind a water barrel so that just my eyes and hat showed. Blanchard was a gray shape in the dark on the porch. I crouched until my knees hurt, then stood up.

Si Hanna came out of the saloon and started walking slow toward the hotel. I went down fast behind the barrel.

I looked at Blanchard. Just the gray shape over there, not moving yet. Si walked faster, a lot faster than I thought he'd come, his heels thumping loud on the planks. Fifteen feet from Blanchard, he stopped.

Two men drifted out of the saloon, walked south 20 feet on the boardwalk and then trotted across the street. Three more came out and stood close to the wall. Lights went out in two rooms on the second floor of the hotel. Then I heard Si.

"You've got to get out of town, marshal."

The words weren't too solid in Si's thin voice but you knew he meant what he said. Then I heard Blanchard.

"Don't crowd me, fellow. I'll listen. If you've got good reasons, I'll go."

There was dead quiet then. Hanna moved and I thought it would happen but it didn't. Blanchard was still in the chair. Why didn't he get out of that chair? That was no way to be when you had to go for a gun. I wanted to yell at him but I couldn't.

Hanna said, "I'll be back in 10 minutes. You be gone."

Hanna turned and started away. I thought he was backing down. By the time he'd moved three steps I knew it was wrong but before I could yell, Hanna turned and his right hand dropped. Somebody yelled, "Stop it, boys!"

It was Jordan Peterson. He was running toward the hotel. I had to admit he had guts but he was too late.

I saw Peterson running and I saw the flame of Hanna's first shot and I heard a woman scream in the hotel. A shape moved on the porch, up and up, and then left the railing in a great arching leap. Two more shots slammed loud from Hanna's gun. Blanchard hit the street and rolled once and came to his knees in a stir of gray dust. The flame and the blast of noise came again, smashing against the buildings. I knew it was Blanchard's gun. Then I could yell and I did. Real loud. The stream of noise cracked against the walls and echoes and died out on the prairie. A patch of gunsmoke drifted slow in the wind by the hotel. Another settled in the street, moving slow away from Blanchard.

Si Hanna's gun flamed again. I tore my eyes from Blanchard, kneeling in the street. Si leaned against a storefront, his gun loose in his hand, smoke curling over him. Then he folded to the boardwalk and once more his gun let go. I heard the tinkle of window glass somewhere to the back of me. Si Hanna was still. I was sure he was dead.

Blanchard rose, slow. He looked toward me. I came to me that I was standing and I wondered if I'd been standing long. I went out to Blanchard. I wasn't thinking that he might be hurt. It never seemed to me that he would be. My throat was so tight I couldn't talk. I picked up his hat and gave it to him. He dropped his gun into his holster and took the hat. He walked to Hanna. He looked at Hanna and then lifted his head to look at Jordan Peterson, who stood like a statue 30 feet away on the boardwalk.

Blanchard said, "That was mighty foolish, Mr. Peterson. You take him now. He's yours. Don't ever say I alone killed him."

We went to the depot, me and Blanchard, and we were alone there. The depot was dark and I wondered if Conliffe had gone home.

The depot door was locked. We leaned against the wall in the cool dark. Rising wind bit through my shirt and I tried to keep from shivering. Blanchard hadn't said 101 words in the last hour, since Si Hanna died.

The headlight on the train was a bearing brightness, cipping in to the prairie, then rising out. Blanchard said, "Pike . . . I had to stand up to him."

"Sure you did, Harney."

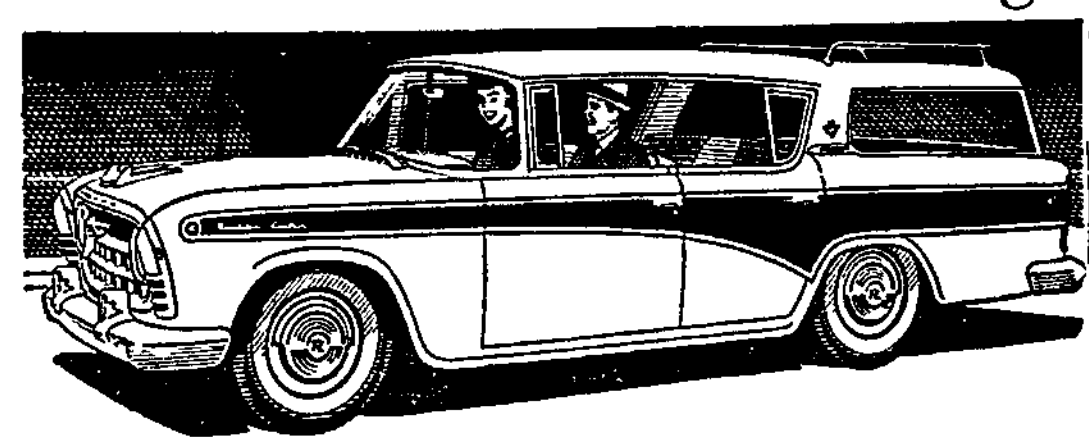

"It's hard to tell sometimes. You don't know. Maybe you do it just for pride."

Election Result
REED CITY, Mich. — (UP) — Benjamin H. Ridderman had to wait almost a month before learning that he had been re-elected to office. He was declared winner over Percy Conrad by a 165-160 margin in the unofficial returns, but the board of canvassers found an error and declared the race a tie, 160-160. They drew for the office, with Ridderman winning. Conrad then demanded a recount. Ridderman won again by a margin of 159-158.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Big Mystery Is Who Stopped Probe Of Teamsters And Hoffa In 1953; GOP Congressman Hoffman Complained That It Came From Very High Up.

WASHINGTON. — There would be no Hoffa headlines, no TV sets turned on to the Senate Rackets committee, no sure bet that Jimmy Hoffa will be next president of the Teamsters, if it hadn't been for a quirk of fate in Michigan four years ago.

Four years ago Hoffa was before another congressional committee. Much of the same information was being exposed about his personal loans, his race track, his police record, his deals with friends who benefited from union welfare funds, his attempts to muscle in on the juke box business, parking lots, and other enterprises far removed from the Teamsters.

Then suddenly, the hearing was called off. It was called off by very high-up Republicans, and many signs pointed to Arthur Summerfield, now postmaster general and a power in Michigan politics. He now denies this. But, in return, Hoffa supported Sen. Homer Ferguson, Republican, for re-election, later supported Mayor Albert Cobo, Republican, for governor against Democratic governor "Soapy" Williams.

The mysterious question mark is: Who worked out the deal to have Hoffa? Who called off the congressional dogs? If that probe had proceeded, Hoffa might not be the power he is today.

The question has met with denials all over the place. But here is what Republican congressmen said at the time they were stopped dead in their tracks from investigating Hoffa: WHO KILLED THE PROBE? Rep. Clare Hoffman of Michigan made a dozen speeches pointing the finger at unnamed high-up Republicans.

On Jan. 19, 1953 he said: "It takes courage sometimes to try to probe the racketeers in your own home city. . . . Mr. Hoffa testified under oath that his local had a million dollars in the treasury and that they had given him—Hoffa—authority to spend such part of that million in elections as he desires."

"In my own committee I was stripped of any authority to continue these investigations, except for a period of 60 days in two localities. Why?"

On Jan. 21, 1954 Hoffman continued: "I have been warned that retaliatory action would be taken if I investigated Teamster racketeers."

On Feb. 3, Hoffman again complained that his committee had been "liquidated." "They gave me no reason for such action."

On Feb. 23, Hoffman protested: "The fact of the matter is they tried to cut my throat. . . . We were getting along all right exposing the racketeers and the extortionists, but we got too close to some politically high influential gentlemen. We were stepping on their toes. They said, 'Cut that old man off.'"

On March 24, Hoffman, still anxious to investigate Hoffa, charged that his committee had been "killed" and that this had encouraged racketeering and extortion.

In Detroit, as hearings suddenly folded, Congressman Wint Smith of Kansas looked at the ceiling and said: "The pressure comes from so high that I can't even discuss it."

Said Committee Counsel William F. McKenna: "We were silenced before we could make public certain important financial legal aspects of the Teamsters' operations."

Just who did the silencing is something the McClellan committee should investigate. But it won't. Too many senators on his committee or their friends might be involved.

UGLY HIGHWAYS

Senator Chapman Revercomb of West Virginia cast the tie-breaking vote in the Senate Public Works Committee in favor of Madison Avenue's desire to clutter up the new federal highway system with billboards.

Voting with Revercomb were his fellow Republicans, Senators Martin of Pennsylvania, Kuchel of California, and Hruska of Nebraska; also Democratic Senators Kerr of Oklahoma, McNamara of Michigan, and Scott of North Carolina.

Before Revercomb cast his tie-breaking ballot, he pleaded with committee members to lay the bill on the table so he wouldn't have to vote. This made Senators Richard Neuberger (D., Ore.) and Albert Gore (D., Tenn.) furious.

"You want to have your cake and eat it, too," protested Neuberger at Revercomb. "You want to kill the anti-billboard bill, but you also want to be able to go home and tell the ladies in the garden club and the sportsmen in the outdoor club that we can revive the bill next year."

"I agree with Senator Gore that now is the time to act," insisted Neuberger. He explained that once the roads are built and the billboards are erected, it will be too late to beautify the federal highways.

Neuberger reminded his fellow senators that American school kids sing "America The Beautiful" in their classrooms.

"There's a line that goes, 'Oh, Beautiful For Spacious Skies.' It's just too bad if statesmen can't live up to what their children sing in school."

Note—The anti-billboard bill, introduced by Neuberger in the Senate, hasn't even received a hearing in the House. Perhaps this is because the chairman of the House subcommittee on roads is Rep. George Fallon (D., Md.) of Baltimore, who used to be in the business of printing signs for advertising.

Girard Shot at Others, Too, Court is Told

Trial in Slaying
Of Japanese Woman
Starts at Maebashi

By JOHN ZIMMERMANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

MAEBASHI, Japan (AP) — The government charged today that Specialist 3C William S. Girard fired "two or three times" at other Japanese before he fired the shot that killed Mrs. Naka Sakai and started a passionate international controversy.

The prosecution read its statement on the opening day of the trial. At the end of the day, trial was adjourned until Sept. 6. During the opening moments Girard pleaded innocent to manslaughter charges and his attorney made a motion to get the case thrown out of Japanese courts.

The prosecution statement said that on the same day Girard fired at Mrs. Sakai he also fired at the feet of a man identified as Isamu Yodoyara and at scrap scavengers named Toshizo Koyama and Katsuzo Kanase.

Nine Witnesses to Testify

Chief Prosecutor prosecutor Yoshio Konawa announced he would call nine witnesses to testify, including Girard's Army buddy Specialist 3C Victor Nickel of Inkster, Mich., who was "with Girard at the time of the shooting."

The prosecution charged that Girard lured Mrs. Sakai toward him by throwing out used cartridges and calling "mama-san, takusan ne woman, plenty, eh." It charged he fired one shot at Hideharu Onozeki, who was with Mrs. Sakai, just missing his feet, and then loaded his grenade launcher again.

It said Girard ran toward Mrs. Sakai, shouting "get out, hey," and fired from a distance of about eight meters (eight yards), hitting her in the back.

Judge Juzo Kawachi adjourned the first day's session after the prosecution completed its opening statement.

Reserves Decision
Girard's attorney, Itsuro Hayashi, one of Japan's top criminal lawyers, asked that the case be thrown out of Japanese courts on jurisdictional grounds.

Judge Kawachi reserved decision.

It was the jurisdiction issue that sparked the controversy in the United States with congressmen and veterans' groups criticizing the United States for turning Girard over to Japan. The U. S. Supreme Court ruled the government had the right to take such action, but the critics demanded that the status of forces agreements, which gave the administration the right, be thrown out.

Girard, 22, of Ottawa, Ill., was accused of shooting and killing Mrs. Sakai, mother of six children, on a U. S. Army firing range Jan. 10 while she was gathering shell castings to sell as scrap metal. If convicted, Girard faces a possible sentence of from two to 15 years imprisonment.

House Sets
Civil Rights
Vote Tuesday

Committee Okays
Compromise Jury
Trial Amendment

By TOM NELSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Rules Committee today cleared way for a House vote on the compromise civil rights bill.

Speaker Sam Rayburn said the right-to-vote bill will be taken up on the House floor as the first order of business Tuesday. An hour's debate is allowed under House rules.

The House is expected to approve the compromise bill and send it back to the Senate, where it faces southern opposition speeches. But complete passage by this week-end was predicted by congressional leaders.

A bi-partisan committee majority convened the rules group over the opposition of its southern chairman, Rep. Howard W. Smith (D. Va.).

The committee then approved, 10-2, a compromise jury trial amendment drafted Friday by top House and Senate leaders of both parties.

The bill would reinforce the right to vote with new federal guarantees authorizing federal judges to enforce this right with court injunctions.

May Clear Gen. Billy
Mitchell of Old Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The late Gen. William (Billy) Mitchell — patron saint of the U. S. Air Force — may be cleared of court martial charges made against him 31 years ago.

The Air Force board for correction of military records by a 3-2 vote has recommended the Air Force set aside Mitchell's 1926 court martial conviction, Pentagon sources told the United Press.

Air Force Secretary James H. Douglas is considering the proposal, but the final decision may be left to President Eisenhower.

Lake Torso
Identified
At Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Police fingerprint experts have positively identified a mutilated body found in Lake Michigan as that of missing 15-year-old Judith Mae Andersen.

The girl, who disappeared 10 days ago, had been shot in the head and her butchered corpse stuffed into two oil drums. Her torso and legs were found in a drum floating in a Lake Michigan harbor last Thursday. Her head and arms were found floating in another oil container Saturday.

The identification, from a fingerprint taken from a religious picture in Judith Mae's home, shattered the family's hopes that the girl might still be alive.

Deputy Chief of Detectives Howard Pierson informed the girl's father, Ralph Andersen of the identification Sunday night, climaxing seven hours of painstaking research by Oscar Benke, bureau of identification technician.

Authorities continued a house-to-house search of the Andersen's middle class West Side neighborhood, concentrating on workshops, garages and filling stations where oil drums are located.

Medical technicians estimated Judith Mae had been dead two to three days before her torso was found. That left a gap of from one to three days between the time she disappeared Aug. 16 and the discovery of the body.

Authorities speculated she may have been kidnapped and held prisoner for a time before being shot by a small caliber pistol and her body dismembered.

Don't Worry About Kid's Table Manners

URBANA, Ill. — Children of pre-school age should learn to stay at the table until the adults finish eating, but most of the other "manners" will come with age. That's the opinion of Mrs. Rita McGreer, University of Illinois nursery school dietitian. Children should be expected to learn the proper use of eating utensils, said Mrs. McGreer, but parents shouldn't be too alarmed if children bring their fingers into play when the tools aren't getting the job done as the child thinks it should be.

Pre-schoolers should also learn not to monopolize conversation and attention at the family dinner table, added Mrs. McGreer.

SAFETY TIME—Did you know that the safest time to drive your car is when the traffic is heaviest? That's the surprising conclusion drawn by Dr. A. R. Lauer and C. O. Swanson of Iowa State College's driver-training laboratory following exhaustive studies. This and some of their other findings are illustrated on Newschart above.

That First Trip to School

test. You will feel a pang of sorrow that first day of school, for it is the start of a new life as your child begins his road to adulthood. Understanding this, give the young child every possible help—a good physical examination to prevent, first of all, and correct, if needed, any condition that may retard him in his school activities.

If properly prepared, that first day of school can be a joyful event. Let your physician and dentist cooperate with you, the parents, in launching your child into the new and exciting school life. There is no wealth such as good health. You can give it to your child.

The Daily Register, Harrisburg, Illinois
Monday, August 26, 1957
Fiber flax is processed in the United States only in the Willamette valley of Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Parent is your child ready for his first trip to school? Have you prepared him emotionally for his departure from babyhood and have you seen to it that he is physically fit to cope with that new world—the strange happenings of his first entrance into school life? If you have not done these things you, as a parent, may yet have time to help your youngster prepare for the adjustments necessary to meet the challenges of his new school activities, the Educational Committee of the Illinois State Medical Society points out in HEALTH TALK.

Not all children are alike, either in appearance or mental achievement. Not all children have been brought up under the same environmental patterns. Some youngsters of school age are vivacious and "full of pep;" others are shy and reticent. But nearly all children have the same undercurrent of eagerness and interest in the mysteries of the school room. Yet, if they have not been prepared physically and emotionally for the new life, trouble can lie ahead.

Has your child had a physical examination by the family physician? Are you certain that the listlessness of the last few weeks, or perhaps a few months ago, which now since has disappeared, is not due to some physical disturbance that could be corrected easily before he begins school. Are you certain that the squint that appears when he looks at the comics or his books of make-believe is not due to some defect in vision? This correction could be the one procedure that would prevent your child from being classified as "dull" in his first days at school. If he can't see the patterns on the blackboard, naturally he can't understand them. The words of explanation of the teacher may register on the child's brain but visually they are meaningless. And then there is the child whose sight is normal, but who fails to hear. Is this child, too, to be classified as "dull" when a physical examination would have paved the way for correction of this defect?

And the child's teeth? Are they in good condition? Or are you one of those parents who say, "They're only his baby teeth" and so defer the trip to the dentist? This is unwise, because careful attention to these baby teeth will be the means to insure good placement when the second teeth make their appearance.

Have you told your child that calling "Here's Looking At You," subtitled: "Positively My Last Book"?

Jim Drury, who played Pat Boone's older brother in "Bernadine," is slated for a star buildup at 20th Century Fox.

Cleo Moore says she'd like to do a western. As the "girl who went thataway"?

Tommy Cook, one-time kid star, now has a real estate broker's license. But he'll still act if a role comes along.

Jock Mahoney finally made an honest woman out of Maggie, his wife for the past seven years. Bought her a wedding ring in Mexico during "The Western Story" location there. She wanted to wait until she saw just the ring she wanted. She found it in Mexico, with the announcement: "I can hardly wait to show it to our four children."

HOLLYWOOD TODAY!

MOVIES - TV - RADIO
by Erskine Johnson

HOLLYWOOD —(NEA)— Exclusively Yours: Roy Rogers and Gene Autry, about the only "true blue" cowboys still around in this era of "adult westerns," better call a meeting of the "True Blue Cowboys Protective Assn."

Roy and Gene may have winced privately recently at some of the goings on in the Hollywood west, but when they hear about some dialog in a new movie, it may mean a hangin' at the corner of Hollywood and Vine.

The dialog is about horses. Well, you know how smart Trigger and Champion are in Roy and Gene's films. Why, those two nags have solved more movie plots than Charlie Chan.

But now, in Columbia's "Cowboy," veteran cattleman Glenn Ford indicates tenderfoot Jack Lemmon into some of the hardships of a cattle drive and tells him: "A horse has got a brain no bigger'n a walnut. He's mean, treacherous and stupid. There never was a horse born that knew enough to move away from a hot fire. No sensible man loves a horse. He tolerates him because ridin' is easier'n walkin'."

Quite a few of the nation's horse lovers, I imagine, will gladly supply the rope, and the cheers, if Roy and Gene decide on hanging the author of those words.

LIVING IT UP in Movietown, according to a press agent release: "David Wittry dyed 17 gardenias by hand to match the table linen for a party given by Frank Sinatra." Gravy brown?

Found, at last! One graying Hollywood star who has no desire to play footloose with Audrey Hepburn or any other doll half his age in a movie. Fellow by the name of Lloyd Nolan. "I've had the romantic bit," he told me, "and I'm leaving the lovin' to younger fellows."

Ann Blyth's on the inactive shelf until after the birth of her third baby in December. "Then," she says, "I'll be looking for another good role like Helen Morgan." It's the first time in her film career that Ann is free of all studio ties.

PRODUCER BILL PERLBERG and Director George Seaton had to hire two actors to play Perlberg and Seaton in a film trailer for "Teacher's Pet."

"Greatest problem we've ever had," said Seaton. "If we get handsome guys, people who know us will think we're vain. If we get ugly actors, people who don't know us won't want to."

The Witnet: Slick Slavin about a Hollywood couple: "They're real fastidious—she's fast and he's hideous."

Ike Confers With Johnson

Demo Leader to Support Substantial Foreign Aid Hike

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — The Senate Appropriations Committee today voted to restore $500,000,000 of House cuts in foreign aid. It recommended a total of $3,025,660,000 in new money for the program, but is 358 million dollars less than President Eisenhower urged the Senate to restore to the program after it was heavily cut by the House.

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — President Eisenhower and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson talked shop today over a low-calorie steak breakfast.

The White House billed the meeting as an attempt by Eisenhower to push the administration's legislative program in the final rush for adjournment of Congress.

Johnson described it as a "very constructive" meeting, saying he and the President had "a most enjoyable hour talking about everything from our health to world events."

The President and Johnson, who both recovered from 1955 heart attacks, also compared notes on their health and dug into a breakfast that featured dietary steaks of low calories.

Johnson told Eisenhower he will support a "substantial increase" in foreign aid funds—but not as much as the President wants—and he believes the final bill will be in the neighborhood of three billion dollars.

Census Bureau Debates Including Religion Question on Forms

By LOUIS CASSELS

United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Would you be offended if a census-taker asked "What is your religion?" The Census Bureau is debating whether to include that question on the forms that will be used by its 200,000 enumerators when they call at every home in America in 1960.

Dr. Conrad Taeuber, assistant director of the bureau, said "vigorous discussions" are still underway within the bureau staff, and "no final decision has been reached."

He said some census officials feel strongly that the bureau should collect factual data on the religious affiliations of Americans, while others are convinced that "it would be a bad mistake."

One problem that has particularly concerned census officials, he said, is how the average American is likely to react to a question about his religion. No such question has ever been asked in a nationwide census.

To sound out public sentiment, the Census Bureau ordered two "trial runs" of the religion question. One was conducted last fall in four Wisconsin counties. The other test was held this spring, and involved a random sample of about 35,000 Americans in all parts of the country.

In both tests, Taeuber said, the census-takers found "very few" people who protested the question or seemed reluctant to answer it. The main argument for including the question in the 1960 census is that it would provide, for the first time, reliable official figures on the size and distribution of various religious groups. Present statistics on church membership are notoriously inadequate. In many cases, they are little more than estimates by denominational officials.

Accurate Figures Valuable
It is significant that among those urging the Census Bureau to include the religion question are two men who probably know more about church statistics than anyone else in America. They are Dr. Benson Y. Landis, editor of the Protestant-sponsored Yearbook of American Churches, and Thomas B. Kennedy, editor of the Official Catholic Directory.

Accurate census figures on America's religious population would be of obvious benefit to religious bodies in determining their areas of strength and weakness, and in planning the location of new churches.

Hoot Song Favored to Cop Hambletonian

Filly Has Made Best Time, Gets Pole Position

Expect 50,000 on Hand to Witness Classic at Du Quoin

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—Hoot Song, a daughter of the 1947 Hambletonian winner, Hoot Mon, rated today as a good choice to become the 10th filly in history to win the prized trotting classic in its 32nd running Tuesday.

Hoot Song boasts the top speed of the 21-horse field this year at the Hambletonian distance of one mile, 2:01 3-5, and in addition drew the pole position of the second division of the $111,126 race.

Hoot Song's best time was nearly two full seconds ahead of the best time registered by any of her heat competitors, 3:03 1-5, by Mudge Hanover, to be driven by Joe O'Brien, who won the Hambletonian behind Scott Frost in 1935. Hoot Song, one of the six offsprings of the 1947 Hambletonian winner in Tuesday's field, will be piloted by Ralph Baldwin. She is owned by Don Galtz Farm, Carmel, Ind.

The path into the finals from the stake's first division could be much rougher. Buckeye Demon, the son of Demon Hanover, winner of the 1948 Hambletonian, was the best time in the group of 11. Owned by Battenkill Stable, East Dorset, Vt., Buckeye Demon will be driven by the same pilot who directed his father to triumph, Harrison Hoyt.

Buckeye Demon has been clocked at 2:01 4-5, only 1-5 of a second behind Hoot Song's time, and he drew the pole position. Immediately behind him will be L. B. Sheppard's Hickory Smoke, the winterbook favorite, who has a best time of 2:02 3-5 this year.

These two could make the first division a bitter struggle, but an outsider, Flicka Frost, owned by John Throw, Mankato, Minn., could be in the running by virtue of an even better clocking than Hickory Smoke this year, 2:02. Flicka Frost will be driven by Billy Houghton, while Johnny Simpson will direct Hickory Smoke.

Tuesday's race will be the first run in two divisions in the Hambletonian and the first since 1939 without betting on the outcome. The gross will be the second highest in history, but because five heats are assured, the best possible to the winner, $47,917.62, can be no better than the sixth highest in Hambletonian records.

Each of the five heats, one more than ever run before, will carry $21,780.74 in prize money with $13,068 to the winner. The last heat will be winner-take-all.

The winners of the first four heats will advance to the championship final and hence there could be two, three or four horses in the last heat.

CBS radio network will broadcast the second division heats at 2 and 3 p. m. (Harrisburg time) and the final heat at 3:50 p. m. A crowd of around 50,000 was expected.

Hazle a Hurricane in Bid Of Braves to Sew Up Title; Brooklyn Noses Cardinals

By Milton Richman
United Press Sports Writer

The Milwaukee Braves feel they'll win in a breeze, especially now that rookie Bob (Hurricane) Hazle is leveling a path to the pennant for them.

Hazle, a left-handed hitting outfielder brought up from Wichita on July 27, has been Milwaukee's most devastating hitter the past two weeks and now sports a .526 average with 30 hits in 57 times at bat.

Sunday he blasted a pair of three-run homers plus a single for a "perfect day" that powered the Braves to a 7-3 victory over the Phillies and enabled them to stretch their National League lead to 7 1-2 games.

Hazle's spectacular one-man batting show accounted for Milwaukee's last six runs. Southpaw Warren Spahn drove in the first one with a homer off loser Robin Roberts in the third inning en route to his 16th victory. The loss was Roberts' 18th compared with eight victories. Stan Lopata homered for

Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON

This is it! The day high school football fans have been waiting for since "way last fall."

For a majority of Illinois high schools the 1956 grid season closed on Nov. 11, or thereabout. For all Illinois high schools today is the first day for 1957 practice.

The Illinois High School Association sets the date for the opening of the practice sessions, and the date fell on Aug. 26 this year. Just about all schools in southern Illinois will open their schedules Friday, Sept. 13.

McLeansboro, playing football for only two or three years, faces a rebuilding job as only two lettermen were in the group welcomed by Coach Gene Haile today.

The McLeansboro field, one of the best lighted in the area, has other improvements completed and ready for use this fall. A brick building, with two dressing rooms and shower for use of the teams and rest rooms for the spectators is finished.

Portable bleachers, of steel frame work and wooden seats, with 316 seating capacity, have been erected on the west side of the field and the old wooden bleachers have been moved to the east side of the gridiron.

Jim McKee is credited as being one "of the big reasons why tennis was on the 'pgrade in the Centralia area this year." McKee coached tennis at the Centralia high school and also in the city's recreational program.

McKee was a leading figure in tennis while an instructor at the IITHS and helped stage the last city-wide tennis tournament in Harrisburg. It was a dandy, attracting a large number of players in various age groups.

Seven lettermen were in the 30 player group to greet new coach John Zaneha at Elkhville. This is Zaneha's first year as head coach, but he was an assistant to Geoffrey "Red" Moore at Elkhville the past two years. Moore has moved to Carrollton.

At present Elkhville has but seven games scheduled — with open dates Sept. 13 and Nov. 8 that school officials would like to fill.

A new stadium is being built at Tabor Field, home of the Benton high school football team. Workmen are working hard in an effort to have the stadium completed to the point where it can be used, at least partially, by the time the season opens Sept. 13.

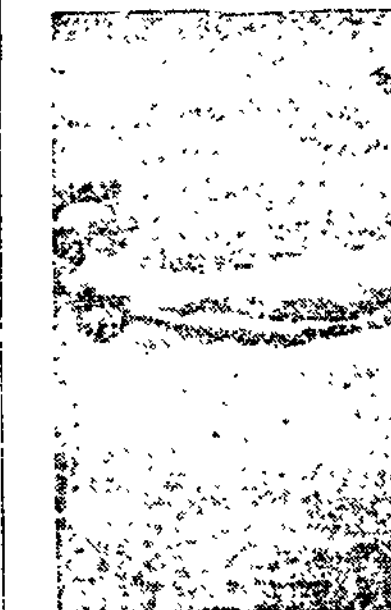

Illinois' football game against Northwestern in Memorial Stadium Nov. 23 will be fifty-first in a series, which began in 1892. Illini have played more games against Wildcats than any other team on the 1957 schedule, but oldest series is with Purdue. The Boiler-makers were played first in 1890.

There will be a Harrisburg driver in the 100-mile championship stock car races at the Du Quoin Fair Saturday.

Bill Hazel of Harrisburg, well known to southern Illinois stock car racing fans, will pilot a 1956 Ford in the big race at Du Quoin. He has been driving the automobile all summer with considerable success. Hazel drove in a big race at Memphis, Tenn., earlier this summer and has appeared at tracks throughout the midwest.

Kiwanis Players, Participants to Meet At VFW Field Tuesday

All players and others who participated in the Kiwanis summer baseball league are asked to be at the VFW field Tuesday at 5:30 p. m. C. H. Shingler, chairman of the program for the Kiwanis club, announced that a group photo would be taken and photos also are planned for team champions in the various leagues.

NO MISSES ALLOWED—Joe Cunningham, Cardinal outfielder, comes up with what ordinarily would be a big catch as he slides across the turf holding this liner. But with the Cards desperately trying to catch Milwaukee, plays such as these must become almost commonplace.

Low Post Card Cost Is Related

WASHINGTON (AP)—With arrival of the vacation season when millions of "wish you were here" notes will be mailed, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has described the post card as "the most economical means of communication the world has ever known."

The department estimates it will deliver 3,250,000,000 postal and post cards this year. (Postal cards are pre-stamped and distributed by the post office; post cards usually feature a picture or drawing and are privately sold.)

The government issued the first postal card 84 years ago this month — in 1873. However, a dozen years before John P. Charlton of Philadelphia copyrighted the idea and permitted H. L. Lipman to sell "Lipman's Postal Cards." Uncle Sam horned in on the market, and Lipman went out of business.

Actually, Austria, Germany, England, Switzerland, Belgium, and the Netherlands issued pre-stamped postal cards before the United States.

Postal cards were one cent until 1952 when the price was doubled. Apparently, Summerfield thinks they would still be an "economical means of communication" at three cents because he's urged a price increase to help wipe out the postal deficit.

During World War I there was a one-cent tax on postal cards. When the war ended the post office was stuck with 200 million cards printed "2 cents." The government stamped them over as "1 cent."

One of the most valuable postal cards is the likeness of President William McKinley. Supposedly, Mrs. McKinley didn't like the picture of her husband, and most of the 1,625,000 cards printed were destroyed. The few still in existence are valued by collectors at $300 each.

International postal cards, at two cents apiece, were first sold in 1879. Double international reply cards, with already-stamped return cards attached, were issued in 1893 at four cents and permitted immigrants to receive messages from folks in the "old country" too poor to afford postage.

Air mail postal cards, at four cents, appeared in 1949, although

One-Hitter by Stout in 24-0 Rout of Albion

The Harrisburg VFW baseball team slaughtered the last place Albion baseball team, 24-0, Saturday night on VFW Memorial field.

Don Stout allowed only one hit in pitching his team to its 20th win of the season and their ninth league win against four losses.

Don Stout and Ron Ziegler led the local hitters with three hits each and Bob Dallas, Dick Odle, Rod Smith and Ray Tonazzi had two hits each. Dick Romonosky, Kayo Willis and Raymond Sisk had the other local hits. These were the only Harrisburg players used in the abbreviated five-inning game called by mutual agreement of both managers.

Next Sunday's opponent will be announced later on in the week when Sunday's results of the other league games are known.

Representative Jeannette Rankin (Montana) was the only woman in Congress to vote for women's suffrage.

STAMPEDE AT BLUE SPRINGS

BY GENE OLSON

THE STORY: Pike Ambrose goes to a town meeting to learn what action is being taken to replace Marshad McNabb, who resigned. At the meeting Pike sees Si Hanna, a gun fighter. Then Pike is chased from the meeting by Lars Paul.

XIII
IT wasn't long before the thumping came on the stairs.

I recognized the voice of Lars Paul. I stuck my head around the building, planning to take a quick look and then pull back. Peterson, Paul and three or four others stood on the boardwalk. One of the others was Si Hanna and the light in the street made a bright mark on the marshal's star on his shirt.

I headed toward the railroad, running hard. I kept on the hotel and ran up the steps and stood over Blanchard and tried to suck enough breath to talk.

"What is it, Pike?"
"The marshal . . . at the meeting, Peterson picked Si Hanna. Si's the marshal!"

Blanchard stood. Who's Si Hanna?"

I told Blanchard about Si Hanna and about the meeting. When

I'd finished, he said. "Maybe you'd better go down to the saloon."

"They'll just pitch me out."

"If I go, the new marshal will have to show what he can do. Then the fat'll be in the fire."

I headed for the saloon. I knew we had to keep track of Si Hanna. I could see where things might come to a head fast, too fast, if Blanchard went down there now, with Si, probably just itching to prove what he could do with a gun.

At Carey's place the air was thick with smoke and noise and the room was crowded. I was glad about that. I thought that if Lars tried to throw me out this time, maybe I'd just stand my ground, blacksmith or no.

I pushed in. Looking it over fast and headed for a corner table. The crowd was thickest by the long bar. There stood most of the men who'd been at the meeting. I heard the squeaky voice of Si Hanna. I couldn't see him in the crowd, small as he was. He'd be at the center of things, enjoying it. Outside of that bunch there was the usual collection of drunks and others with nothing to do than make Carey rich. Larc Mack and Carey were behind the bar and busy. It began to look like I wouldn't be bothered. Then Lars Paul spotted me.

"Hey! There's that kid again!"
Everybody turned and looked. I was on my feet and heading for the door by the time he started for me. Then I stopped and turned back and braced. I decided he'd have to throw me out, if he could.

Lars was four steps away when a voice cut sharp through the smoke from the far end of the bar.

"Let him be, Lars."

LARS stopped. I looked for the one who said it. It was Eric Clement. Big Dan stood by. I had a strong motion to run again. I hadn't figured on the Clements. Eric, grinning, walked toward me, waving a big glass half full of whiskey. He stopped between me and the main bunch. Lars just looked at him.

"Let him be," Eric said. "Maybe he'll go back to his friend, tell him we got a man now who'll take care of this town. Will you do that, Pike, boy?"

"I . . . I sure will," I said, edging toward the door.

"Wait a minute. You want to stay, hear some more?"

I stopped. I couldn't get at what Eric had in mind. He wasn't acting right at all. He turned away and motioned with his head to Si Hanna and Si moved out of the bunch. The star on his shirt looked mighty big for such a small man. There was the start of a smile on his face but it didn't do much to cut the pinched, mean look.

Eric grinned at me. "Meet the marshal, Pike. Si, you tell Pike here what you plan to do to his friend."

Si frowned. He looked at Jordan Peterson sitting at a near table. Peterson got up.

"Now see here, Eric," Peterson said. "We've got to let Si do this his own way."

Eric just stared at Peterson. Then Eric turned slow to Si. Eric said, "Marshal, I suppose you'll want to think about it a little. A man just don't want to tackle Blanchard without thinking about it some."

Si looked at Peterson. Peterson's face was red. He knew what Eric was trying to do and didn't like it much but he couldn't stop it either. Si's eyes narrowed and his lips worked a little. A chair shifted and then it was quiet as death. After a long time Eric broke into the quiet.

"All right, Pike. You get out. Si doesn't have anything to say."

Si turned fast. He spit at my feet. "You'll tell that tinhorn marshal to get out of Blue Springs in 15 minutes or I'm comin' after him!"

"Stop it," barked Peterson. It was too late. Hanna stood there, shaking mad, excited, his hands resting on his gun butts, his eyes slits of hate in his dark face.

Eric slapped Si on the back. Somebody yelled, "Go get him, Si!"

Eric said, "Pike, go tell your marshal he's through here. Tell him him Hanna said so."

Si stared at me with all the meanness in the world. I pushed through the doors and ran toward the hotel. I started yelling before I got to the hotel steps.

"Harney! Harney! Si Hanna's coming! Si Hanna's coming!"

Blanchard got to his feet. I felt his strong grip on my shoulders.

"What does he want?"

"He plans to gun you! Eric pushed him to it!"

(To Be Continued)

NEW YORK — The fashion world's Mr. America this fall will dress for two lives. He will appear the staid conservative in the dark blue suit at work and a gaudily garbed "sport" at home.

According to the Clothing Manufacturers Assn., retailers across the United States say the conservative, dark—particularly blue—or medium shade suit will be just the thing for the stylish American male to wear at his office desk.

But, if the Association of Men's Sportswear Buyers predicts correctly, when the well-dressed commuter arrives at home, he will leap for his "fire red" sport shirt, his "coal black" slacks and his bulky-knit, "white heat" sweater.

The CMA released today a survey of what 392 clothing retailers intend to sell this fall. It pointed out that charcoal grey is on the lam along with single and two-button jackets.

Harry Cobrin, executive secretary of the CMA, said in discussing the survey, that Mr. America's dark blue suit will probably be a worsted.

"Men are buying worsteds because they wear longer than any other fabric and are in keeping with the general trend toward lighter weight clothing," he said. The same dark blue worsted, if it is up with the style trends, is almost certain to be single breasted, have a three-button front and have either no shoulder padding or a modified natural shoulder (a little padding), Cobrin said.

In backing up these statements, the CMA survey shows 92 per cent of the fall suits haberdashers expect to sell will be Ivy League or modified natural shoulder types. Survey figures showed the retailers expect 65 per cent of the suits sold will have three-button fronts and 96 per cent will be single breasted.

Miss Sidney Joan Rodd Bride of Donald Minner in Marion Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Minner

The wedding of Miss Sidney Joan Rodd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Rodd, 504 Bainbridge Road, Marion, and Donald E. Minner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan E. Minner of Harrisburg, took place Saturday afternoon, Aug. 10, at the First Methodist Church of Marion. The Rev. Clarence V. Tolley officiated at the double ring ceremony, in a setting of summer greenery.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white ballerina length bouffant gown of silk organza with tucked bodice, lace yoke and cowl neckline. Organza panels extended from the back waist line to the hemline. Her illusion veil was held in place by a crown of silk and pearls. She carried a cascade of pink roses centered with a large cabbage rose.

The bride chose as her attendants Mrs. Rolan Gorham of Kansas City, Mo., as matron of honor, and Miss Shirley Bull of Chicago as bridesmaid. Both are former college suite mates of the bride. They wore identical ballerina length bouffant gowns of pink chiffon with back floating panels extending from the shoulder line. The bodices were fully shirred in front and back. Pink picture hats completed their costumes. They carried identical bouquets of dark red roses centered with matching glamelias.

The groom chose as his attendants Edwin Towle, Carbondale, as best man and Dick Lockwood, Harrisburg, groomsmen. Guests were seated by Rodger Rodd, brother of the bride, and Bob Hays of Harrisburg. All of the men were attired in summer tuxedos.

Master Douglas Bradley, nephew of the bride, served as ring bearer and Patricia Dee Robbins, niece of the bride, served as flower girl.

Miss Betty Boatright, at the organ, played the traditional Wedding March and recessional and appropriate music selections before and during the ceremony. Mrs. Robert D. Bradley, sister of the bride, sang "O Perfect Love" before the ceremony and "The Lord Bless You and Keep You" for the benediction.

Mrs. Rodd, mother of the bride, wore a rose tiered lace sheath dress with matching satin belt, and white accessories. Mrs. Minner, mother of the groom, wore a brown transitional cotton dress complemented with gold metallic threads, and beige accessories. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the church dining room. Miss Betty Booth, Miss Jacqueline Kaeser, Mrs. Don Morgan and Miss Dianne Stanley, close friends of the bride, assisted at the serving. They were attired in white sheath dresses with pink chiffon sashes.

The beautiful serving table was covered with a white cloth. The table's organdy skirt was topped with taffeta, draped and caught up at intervals with large bows of white satin and lace. The bows were centered with nosegays of pink sweetheart roses and pink satin streamers bearing white wedding bells. The three tiered white wedding cake, delicately trimmed with pink rose buds and topped with miniature wedding bells, centered the table. A garland of huckleberry and pink roses surrounded the cake.

Miss Guyla June Cochenour registered the guests. Miss Boatright played piano selections during the reception.

The bride was graduated from Marion Township High School and William Woods College, Fulton, Mo. She attended Asbury College, Wilmore, Kentucky during the past year.

Mr. Minner was graduated from Harrisburg high school. He served in the army, stationed in Germany, for two years. He attended Southern Illinois University at Carbondale before entering service and is now a student there.

Boost Worker Morale

Industry Spends Billion Yearly For Recreation Activities

NEW YORK — American industry, mindful that all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, is spending one billion dollars a year helping its workers have fun.

Picnics . . . regattas . . . hayrides . . . bowling tournaments . . . trips to Europe . . . choral group recitals . . . chess matches. These are just smatterings of off-hour company recreation activities.

Their aim—to boost worker morale, improve efficiency and reduce turnover.

David F. Chapin, president of the Industrial Recreation Directors Association of New York, told the United Press recreation programs are another "fringe benefit" companies offer to get and keep good workers in a tight labor market.

About 25,000 companies — from the tiniest Los Angeles electronics firm to international New York all giants—have some form of industrial recreation activities, according to the National Industrial Recreation Assn.

This year they will spend one billion dollars brightening after-work hours of their employees against 800 million dollars eight years ago, the association forecasts.

What's the company's role? Normally it's that of an interested bystander who helps defray the cost of such things as equipment and instructors, provides a meeting place and in some cases even gives time off.

The staple of industrial recreation is the picnic. It's estimated that as many as two out of three companies hold a picnic of some sort during the year.

From these activities range out along a broad spectrum. The larger the company, usually the more diversified the program.

U. S. Steel Corp. has a wide range of activities with programs organized on a local plant level.

At its Gary, Ind., works, for example, there are a dozen different activities available from a choral group to bowling. "Big Steel's" attitude is to "encourage and cooperate."

Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey also offers a wide range of activities on a local level. Last Memorial Day 2,000 New York based employees chartered a boat and watched the international life boat race on the Hudson River, some 350 persons will leave Aug. 17 for a two-week Caribbean cruise.

Travel is one of the fastest growing fields of employee recreation. A big advantage is group rates.

A two-week trip to Europe complete can be had for as little as $520, according to Joseph A. Tigrani, president of World Travel Plan Corp., a company which specializes in making group travel arrangements.

He points out his firm has arranged travel details for 7,000 workers so far this year, against 4,000 for all of last year. The Marco Polos come from such firms as Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania, Prudential Insurance Co. of America, Atlantic Refining Co. and Westinghouse Electric Corp.

Prepare Pre-Schooler For Kindergarten

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Planning to send your preschooler to kindergarten this fall? Better start preparing now, said Patricia Robinson, University of Illinois child development specialist.

First thing, she said, is to make sure the youngster knows his name, address, and telephone number.

Then be sure the pupil-to-be can dress himself, and buy clothing which is easy to put on.

The child should be encouraged to play with other children, and taught as much general information — such as about post offices and train stations — as possible.

If there's a summer kindergarten in progress, take him for a visit, to get used to the idea, Miss Robinson suggested.

Keep Your Dislike of A Food from Child

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — (U.P.) — If the children don't take to certain foods, make sure your own attitude isn't involved, says Mrs. Rita McGreer, University of Illinois nursery school dietitian.

A chance remark about disliking a certain food or its taste can have a lasting effect on a child, she explained.

A child can sense when parents try to get him to eat foods they dislike. More often than not they just won't, she added.

with criminal contempt when judges seek to impose fines exceeding $300 or sentences of more than 45 days.

The Senate Appropriations Committee Monday restored $500,000, 000 of the more than 800 million dollars slashed by the House from the foreign aid bill.

However, the administration's partial victory faced a possibly short life.

Senate critics of the foreign aid program planned to try for at least one more slash at the bill as it moved through the Senate. And Rep. Otto E. Passman (D-La.), chairman of the House appropriations subcommittee that originally cut it, predicted the House would never go along with the half-billion increase.

Other congressional news: TVA: Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.) forecast that Arnold R. Jones — Eisenhower's nominee as director of the Tennessee Valley Authority — had a "50-50 chance, at best" of winning Senate confirmation. Democratic opposition continued to increase.

Public Works: The President signed reluctantly the $858,094,323 public works bill. The bill carried more than 18 million dollars less than he requested. But he complained it included many unbudgeted items that would drive up the cost in future years.

Oil: The Senate anti-trust subcommittee said the President may have approved an illegal plan to restrict oil imports by voluntary agreement during the Suez Canal crisis last year. The subcommittee majority said the oil lift organized to supply Europe during the crisis should have been handled by the government — not private companies.

Dulles Says U. S. Would Consider Admitting Red Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today the United States will consider admitting a Communist Chinese reporter if one applies for a visa.

But he made clear that the United States has no intention of admitting Red Chinese newsmen to this country on a reciprocal basis in return for Communist China allowing American reporters to enter that country.

The State Department last week agreed to let 24 American news men go to Communist China for a limited period to cover news developments there. But the Chinese Communist People's Daily newspaper demanded that the United States grant Red Chinese reporters reciprocal rights.

Paper Hikes Price

CHICAGO — The Chicago American today became the second Chicago newspaper this week to raise its price from 5 to 7 cents. The Chicago Daily News raised its price Monday. Both papers said the increase was necessitated by soaring costs of production.

Soaked for Money

CHICAGO — A dozen school children got in the swing of things to "soak" their friends for money to contribute to a home for emotionally disturbed children. The little fund-raisers let paying customers pelt them with wet sponges as they sat on swines. The take: $31.

Bethel Tabernacle Revival

The revival is still in progress at Bethel Tabernacle on Pearl street, with Rev. Louis Durfee, the evangelist, praying for the sick every night. Several have repented, and many have been healed. Rev. Durfee will be preaching each night on "The Mark of the Beast," "The Signs of the Times," and other interesting and timely messages. Every one is welcome to attend the services at 7:30 each evening.

Proper Way to Make Iced Tea Explained

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — (CP) — The University of Illinois has decided just about everyone makes iced tea the wrong way.

To make clear iced tea, use 2 teaspoons of tea for each cup of water. Use lukewarm water and let the tea stand from three to six hours, says the university.

Brisk, clear tea is the result — with very little tannin to make it cloudy.

Pouring boiling water over tea is just asking for trouble; hotter the water the more tannin to cloud the tea.

Mrs. Mary Austin, 84,

Dies at Home of Son

Mrs. Mary Austin, 84, of the Herald's Prairie community of White county, died Monday in the home of her son, Othel Austin, superintendent of schools at Ridgeway.

In addition to Othel Austin she is survived by her son, Sylvester Austin, of Herald's Prairie and her daughter, Mrs. Silliman Smith of Norris City.

The body is in the care of the Turner funeral home of Norris City and will be taken to the farm home, two miles north of Herald, to lie in state until the funeral at 1 p. m. Thursday.

The funeral will be held in the Union Ridge Presbyterian church, with Elder T. Leo Dodd officiating, and burial will be in the church cemetery.

Animal Tranquilizer Now Being Marketed

LONDON — A British company today put on the market a tranquilizer pill for animals.

The company said the pill will stop dogs from barking, and relieve nervousness, anxiety and apprehensions in high-strung animals. The tranquilizer is being offered to veterinarians, with the claim that it is effective on dogs, cats and other pets.

Linen is a textile of great antiquity. Some that was manufactured 10,000 years ago has been found in Switzerland.

Usher Board Holds Annual Picnic

The Usher Board of the Mt. Pleasant Baptist Church held its annual picnic at Crab Orchard Lake Saturday afternoon. Fishing and visiting filled the afternoon hours for the members and a pic-

First Mexican Natural Gas for U.S. Cities

On August 22, a group of men gathered at Reynosa, Mexico, just across the Rio Grande from McAllen, Texas. A brief ceremony was held, and a valve was opened, starting the first major importation of natural gas from Mexico.

Soon, this gas will be heating homes and serving industry in a dozen or more Midwestern, Appalachian and Eastern Seaboard states. The gas will come from large fields in Northern Mexico tapped by Petroleos Mexicanos (Pemex).

Daily, some 115 million cubic feet of Mexican gas will move north through Texas Eastern's 5900-mile pipeline system... and (via facilities of the company's local client firms) into homes and plants as far north as New England.

By joining in utilizing this great natural resource, Texas Eastern and Pemex are making a signal contribution to the economies of both Mexico and the United States.

Through the sale of this gas, Pemex will receive an annual revenue of almost $6,000,000 — initially. As the volume of deliveries goes up, so will the revenues.

Texas Eastern, through its 20-year Pemex contract, can assure its customers continuing and increasing supplies of natural gas. This in turn means that greater quantities of this clean, dependable and economical fuel can be made available to homes and industries in Midwestern, Appalachian and Eastern Seaboard States.

No Betting for First Time Since 1939

Possibility of Thundershowers Is Predicted

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—A record crowd of 50,000 was expected today at the first Midwestern running of trotting's richest race, the Hambletonian, a feature of the Du Quoin State Fair.

The race will be historic in several aspects. There will be no betting, for the first time since 1939. It will run in two divisions for the first time, and also for the first time, it will require five heats to find a winner.

Cooler temperatures with partly cloudy skies and a chance of thundershowers was predicted.

Meanwhile, a replacement for Wayne (Curley) Smart, 52, Delaware, Ohio, driver of Phillip Frost, was to be announced shortly before race time.

Smart dislocated his knee, strained ligaments and tendons of a leg, which was placed in a cast, and was unable to drive.

Three horses were rated the major challengers, the filly, Hoot Song, in the second division, and two colts, Hickory Smoke and Buckeye Demon, challenging each other in the first divisions.

Hoot Song has the top time of the year of any horse in the field for the mile distance of the race, 2:01 3-5, while Buckeye Demon, son of the 1948 Hambletonian winner, Demon Hanover, has the next best clocking, 2:01 4-5.

The race will gross $111,126, second highest in history, surpassed only by the $117,117.98 paid in 1953, but because five heats will be run, the highest possible purse to the winner will be only $47,917.62, a total already bettered in five previous races.

Each division, with 11 horses in the first and 10 in the second, will run two heats with the winners advancing to the fifth heat from which the champion will come. Each heat will carry $21,780.74 with $13,068 to the winner, except the last heat will be winner take all.

Five drivers in the field have won the Hambletonian previously. Harrison Hoyt, piloting Buckeye Demon, rode to victory behind Demon Hanover in 1948, Del Cameron, driving Major Newport, was the winner in 1954 behind Newport Dream, Joe O'Brien, driving Bond Hanover, directed Scott Frost to victory in 1955, and Ned Bower, who won last year behind The Intruder, will pilot Storm Cloud. The fifth previous winner was 77-year-old Fred Egan, who won in 1940 behind Spencer Scott and in 1949 behind Miss Tilly.

Even though the track is rated faster than Good Time Park, Goshen, N. Y., site of the race since 1930, trackmen thought the chance was no better than even that a new record would be set. The best mark ever set in the event was 2:00 by Hoot Mon in 1947.

Hope Robinson Title Bout to Be Settled Today

NEW YORK (AP)—The corned beef sandwiches that felled promoter Jim Norris may cause a quick announcement that the million-dollar Ray Robinson-Carmen Basilio fight is on again.

"Let's do it for Jim!" was the melodramatic slogan of both sides in the dispute today as settlement negotiations were resumed, while multi-millionaire Norris lay in St. Clare's Hospital recovering from an acute attack of food poisoning.

Middleweight champion Robinson, who was warned by the N. Y. State Athletic Commission to go through with the fight or risk having his title vacated, said, "I'm hopeful we can settle things today and cheer up Jim; nothing's so important right now as his welfare."

Norris, 50, suffered a heart attack seven years ago; and there is an old lesion scar on one of the arteries although electrocardiograms disclosed no new heart damage.

He was stricken by the "acute enteritis" Monday night at the very hour he had been scheduled to preside over a surprise conference at his office in Madison Square Garden.

Big Ted Says Pills Keep Him Going, Won't Quit Baseball

NEW YORK (AP)—Pain-racked Ted Kuszewski insisted today he's "not quitting."

The big Cincinnati first baseman is only a part-time performer now because of a slipped disc in his spine but he says he isn't ready to hang up his mitt yet.

"Maybe I'll undergo an operation this winter," he said. "I haven't really decided what I'll do about the back. But I'm not going to quit baseball. My back still bothers me although it isn't nearly as bad as it was during the spring."

Kuszewski, who will be 33 next month, takes numerous pills every day to keep the pain in his back from becoming unbearable.

"Those pills are the things that keep me going," said the muscular Redleg veteran, who was once among the most feared sluggers in the National League.

So far this season, big Klu has been in only 58 games for Cincinnati and in many of them he appeared solely as a pinch hitter.

Brethrens Take 1st Playoff Till

Social Brethren pounded First Baptist 18-5, to win the first "I" league playoff game Monday. The second game will be at 5:30 a. m. today and the third, if necessary, Wednesday at the same time.

Social Brethren had only six hits, but they capitalized on eight walks and six errors to run up the high score. Bill McKeever was the big gun at the plate with a home run and double.

Donnie Hutchison doubled and Ronnie Hutchison, Gary Hutchison and Roy Simpson each singled. Albert Beal was the winning pitcher, giving up seven hits, walking four and striking out two. For First Baptist, Nicky Hicks tripled, Bobby Karnes doubled and Johnny Gee, Don Griffith, Billy Abney, Sam Potter and Stephen Maszaros singled. Maszaros was the losing pitcher.

Bell Breaks Ankle, Call Up Thurman

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Bob Thurman will report to the Cincinnati Reds here tonight as a replacement for outfielder Gus Bell, out for the rest of the season with a broken ankle.

Thurman, who shined as a pinch-hitter for the Reds earlier this season, was recalled from Seattle Monday after X-rays revealed a small bone fracture in Bell's right ankle.

The slugging center-fielder suffered the injury while attempting to stretch a double into a triple in the eighth inning of Saturday's 4-1 loss to the Pirates.

The Redlegs asked waivers on pitcher Vicente Amor to make room for Thurman.

Yanks Invade Home of Hot Chi-Sox, Who Have Great Opportunity to Cut Lead

By JOHN GRIFFIN

United Press Sports Writer
The New York Yankees, badly mauled by that vicious Detroit Tiger, came stumbling into Chicago tonight to give the White Sox their golden opportunity of 1957.

If the Yankees ever were ready to be "taken," they are now.

Their 5-2 drubbing by the Tigers Monday, thanks to Al Kaline's three-run homer, was their fifth loss in the last seven games; their league lead over the Sox now is down to 3 1-2 games—lowest point since Aug. 1; and their pitching isn't ready for the big three-game series opening under the Chicago arcs tonight.

Instead of having an Allie Reynolds ready to hurl, manager Casey Stengel is calling Art Ditmar, last year the longest pitcher in the league, out of the bullpen to face either Jim Wilson or Gerry Staley. Out of action are ace lefties Whitey Ford and Bobby Shantz and the rest of the Yank mound corps is wobbling.

Six-Game Streak

The White Sox, riding a six-game winning streak, were idle Monday while the Tigers were beating the Yankees for the second straight day. Mickey Mantle slugged his 33rd homer in the first inning with a mate aboard to put New York ahead, 2-0, but Frank Lary shut out the league leaders the rest of the way.

Kaline slammed his 17th homer of the year in the first inning with two on to put Detroit ahead to stay and give him 13 runs-batted-in during the last four games. Harvey Kuenn singled home another Tiger run in the second and Charley Maxwell's sacrifice fly delivered the final tally in the fifth.

If the White Sox can sweep all three games in the series starting tonight, they still will be a half-game behind the Yankees. But they'll be all even in the only place baseball men say is important—the lost column.

The Milwaukee Braves' headlong rush toward the National League pennant was slowed Monday night when they dropped a 4-3 decision to the Phillies, cutting their lead to seven games over the St. Louis and Brooklyn Braves Rally.

The Braves rallied from a 3-1 deficit to tie the score with two unearned runs in the eighth inning with the help of Chico Fernandez' error. But the Phils loaded the bases against reliever Ernie Johnson with one out in the ninth and then pinch-hitter Ron Northey singled to score Ted Kazanski with the winning run. Ronkie Dick Farrell was the winner in relief.

In the only other games scheduled Monday, the New York Giants trounced the Cincinnati Redlegs, 17-3, and the Boston Red Sox crushed Kansas City, 16-0.

Home runs by Danny O'Connell and Hank Sauer led the Giants' 19-hit attack as they handed the Redlegs their 13th loss in the last 14 games.

A 10-run seventh inning featured the Red Sox' win with four homers in that big frame — by

Eldorado Merchants Defeat Herrin

A two-run rally in the seventh inning gave the Eldorado Merchants a 5-4 victory over Herrin Sunday in a game played on the Raleigh diamond.

Each team scored three times in the first and the score remained tied until the sixth when Herrin came up with a marker to go in front 4-3.

Eldorado scored the two winning tallies in the seventh. James and Pulliam walked and Thaxton singled to load the bases, then Parton singled to drive in the winning markers.

Joe Irvin pitched six innings for Eldorado, allowing six hits and 4 runs. Davis hurled the final three innings, allowing three hits and no runs.

Eldorado hitting was paced by M. Stone with 3 for 4 and Pulliam had 2 for 3.

Sunday and Monday Eldorado Herrin, Marion and Pittsburg will participate in a tourney at Zeligler.

The four teams will meet at 12:30 Sunday and draw for first round play. Sunday's winners play Monday for the championship trophy.

Eldorado players will meet at the Raleigh diamond Friday at 5:30 p. m. for practice.
